GENOME SEQUENCING OF ALL +VE CASES IN 8 CITIES

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @New Delhi

SUSPECTING Omicron community transmission in eight cities in seven states, the Central Government has decided to conduct whole genome sequencing of Covid-positive RT-PCR samples from Mumbai, Pune, Delhi, Bengaluru, Chennai, Hyderabad, Bhubaneswar and Kolkata.

"One of the key epidemiological indices to be ascertained at this stage is the presence of Omicron transmission in the community in larger cities," said Sujeet Kumar Singh, head of the National Centre for Disease Control (NCDC), in a letter written to the seven state governments on Wednesday.

Citing a meeting with state surveillance officers of these states last week, Singh said the eight cities were identified for monitoring community transmission.

"Accordingly, it was decided in consultations with the INSACOG genome sequencing laboratories (IGSLs) that all RT-PCR positive samples from these cities will be sent for whole genome sequencing at the designated IGSLs," said the letter, accessed by this newspaper.

An official from the NCDC explained that as of now, testing all RT-PCR samples for the presence of the new variant, which has been flagged for its dramatic transmission rate, will not be a problem as the number of cases, though rising, is still limited. "Subjecting all Covid-positive samples to this test will give a clearer picture of the penetration of the variant in the community," he said.

A separate document prepared by the Union Health Ministry and accessed by this newspaper, which lists 222 patients confirmed with Omicron in India, shows that nearly 60 patients did not have any history of international travel or any contact with those who travelled abroad. Three of the patients have been identified from a "locality cluster" in Delhi.

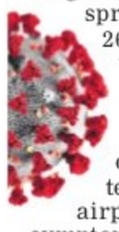
Four of family test positive for Omicron in B'luru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH a Covid-19 cluster of four new cases of the Omicron variant emerging in Bengaluru, the state's tally with the new variant has risen to 23 on Wednesday.

The new cluster has been detected at the Raheja Residency apartment complex in Koramangala, Bengaluru. The spread began with a 26-year-old woman, who returned from the UK recently, testing positive for Covid-19. Health officials said she had tested negative at the airport but developed symptoms later on, due to which she got herself tested again and was found to be positive. Her samples were taken and sent for genome sequencing.



Her family members too developed symptoms in the intervening period and were tested as primary contacts. All their samples too were sent for genome sequencing. The family of four, apart from the 26-year-old woman, includes her 50-year-old mother, 56-year-old father and 20-year-old sister.

Rawat's turn to grumble against party leadership

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Dehradun/New Delhi

FROM being the Congress high command's pointsperson for the botched organisational reset in Punjab, Harish Rawat is now getting a feel of the other end of the stick. That experience is depressing enough for him to bitterly tweet about the constraints, adding he felt like quitting multiple times.

Months ago, the Congress leadership had deployed him to instal Navjot Singh Sidhu as Punjab Congress unit chief and unseat Amarinder Singh chief minister. Reverberations of the messy shake up are still being felt in Punjab.

While Rawat's outburst was directed at the Congress incharge for Uttarakhand Devendra Yadav, within the high command it was viewed as a pressure tactic as the party is in the process of finalising candidates for the upcoming Assembly polls.

The wily former chief minister of Uttarakhand complained that the party organisation was hindering instead of helping him. "It is strange how I have to swim in the ocean of election. Instead of reaching out for help, the organisational structure is either ignoring me or playing a negative role. The leadership has left several crocodiles in the ocean where I have to swim," he tweeted.

"The representatives of those on whose orders I have to swim are tying up my hands and feet. On several occasions, it comes to my mind that I have swum enough and it is time to rest. Then another voice rises, asking me to never be helpless and never run away. I am in a dilemma. May the new year show me my path. I am sure Bhagwan Kedarnath will," he said.

Surinder Aggarwal, advisor to Harish Rawat, hinted at growing differences between Rawat and Yadav. "He (Rawat) is a senior leader of Congress. If his posters are removed from Rahul Gandhi's rally in the presence of Devendra Yadav, then his role comes into doubt. There's a probability that Devendra Yadav is involved in the conspiracy," Aggarwal alleged.

Rawat is leaving no stone unturned to put his name forward as the CM candidate of the party in the hill state.

Kannada groups call for state bandh on Dec 31

ENS @ Bengaluru

WITH continuing tension in the border areas, pro-Kannada organisations in the state have called for Karnataka bandh on December 31 demanding a ban on the Maharashtra Ekikaran Samiti (MES).

After holding a meeting with representatives of several pro-Kannada organisations in Bengaluru on Wednesday, Kananda activist Vatal Nagaraj announced that they will withdraw the bandh call only if the government bans the MES by December 29.

"We have taken it very seriously and it will be a complete bandh from 6 am to 6 pm. However, essential services will not be affected," Nagaraj stressed. People from across the state will support the bandh to protest against the burning of Kannada flags, vandalizing statues and damaging Karnataka vehicles in Maharashtra, he said.

The pro-Kannada organisations are planning to take out a massive rally from Town Hall to Freedom Park in Bengaluru on December 31 to send out a strong message to the government. Leader of a pro-Kannada organisation and film producer Sa Ra Govindu said they will convince all associations, including hotel and petrol bunk owners, advocates' associations and others to support the bandh. Metro to launch trip ticketing system by March

The trip count to be regardless of distance between stops

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

WITH increasing public demand for different ticketing systems and to reduce queuing of travelling public at ticketing counters in Metro stations during Covid times, Bengaluru Metro Rail Corporation Ltd (BMRCL) is working on introducing trip tickets across its network. The new system is expected to be introduced by March 2022.

The trip ticket will be similar in appearance to the Metro card. It will allow fixed trips for which advance payment is collected.

The trip count is regardless of the distance and could be just two stations or cover the longest possible distance on the Metro network.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, BMRCL Managing Director Anjum Parwez said, "The trip ticket will particularly help people who are on a short trip to Bengaluru or who use the card for a pre-determined route regularly. They neither have to buy a card nor have a minimum balance in it. The trip fare will be deducted on the card automatically regardless of who uses it."

The pricing factor is crucial and BMRCL is working on it, he added. "We are considering if the pricing could be made kilometre-based and if discounts can be offered on it. Our team is exploring all options. We will definitely have some kind of system in place by March 2022 as there is a huge demand from the public for alternative ticketing systems."

The Managing Director said it was not possible to cater to the public demand for day or monthly passes. "It will be prone to misuse if we allow it as our passes do not have a name or photo of the individual, like BMTC passes. Hence, we cannot introduce these kind of passes," he added.

On group tickets, which were introduced since Metro's launch, Chief Public Relations Officer B L Yashavanth Chavan said, "They can be bought only physically at Customer Care Centres at stations by those travelling in a group of 25 or more. There is a 10% discount over that of regular token fare on it. Counting of the group would be done before issuance of the ticket."

Metro's ridership now averages nearly 3 lakh on weekdays. "We had our highest ridership of 3,37,269 on December 20 after operations were re-launched following closure during the pandemic," Chavan said.

Builder delays project, homebuyers left hanging

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

HUNDREDS of families, desperate to live in their dream homes in 'Ozone Urbania' at Devanahalli, after having invested up to Rs 1 crore each, are seeking justice. Nineteen investors on Tuesday filed an FIR at Kodigehalli police station in North Bengaluru, against Ozone Group and its top management, for criminal breach of trust and criminal conspiracy.

The township of 5,000 apartments found a ready market when it opened for sale in 2015, due to its location near the airport. It's been four years past the deadline of 2017-end,and investors are distraught.

Mohit Sharma, the main complainant, says, "I've been paying Rs 57,000 pre-EMI (interest on loan borrowed) every month on the loan taken for the past 2.5 years.

This, despite a tripartite agreement between the buyer, property developer and HDFC that this sum must be borne by the builder if there is a delay."

The CEO sends us frequent mails stating that the project would be ready within six months, but this promise is never kept, says Sharma. He had taken the builder to RERA in 2019, but he got away, saying the company would issue credit notes. "The builder says they don't have finances at present, and keep issuing credit notes to us. I now have credit notes worth Rs 20 lakh," he adds.

An apartment block inside Ozone Urbania Township in Devanahalli

Veterinary doctor Seema J Verma, who paid up to Rs 1 crore for her 4BHK house in Aqua II block, said, "We keep getting assurances that it will be completed. My mother-in-law recently passed away and we want to move in and take care of our father-in-law." The latest deadline given is March 2022, she added.

Nearly 1,000 houses have been readied and occupied, but residents have numerous issues, including lack of permanent electricity connection and Occupancy Certificate, Verma said.

Managing Director of Ozone Urbania S Vasudevan told The New Indian Express, "We acknowledge that there has been a delay on our part. But that happens in a massive project of this size, and we are handing over completed apartments regularly. No buyer will undergo loss, and we are compensating them for expense incurred because of the delay."

Protests erupt against anti-conversion Bill

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

PROTESTS erupted in Bengaluru on Wednesday, following tabling of the Anti-Conversion Bill on Tuesday, in the ongoing winter session in Suvarna Vidhana Soudha.

Over a thousand protesters gathered, rallying from Mysore Bank Circle to Freedom Park, protesting against the Bill. "This bill is a direct attack on various freedoms granted by the Constitution. The right to freedom of religion is a basic right that the bill affects, especially for Dalits, women and minorities. It circumscribes their rights and is another means of social control that they propagate under this bogey called conversion," said Clifton D'Rozario, national secretary of All India Central Council of Trade Unions and member of the All India Lawyers' Association for Justice.

A coalition of around 48 organisations, including human rights organisations, student and trade unions and religious organisations from all over the state and country, attended the rally. Activists, lawyers and citizens also opposed the bill. "The bill, falsely citing the prevalence of forced conversion, seeks to prohibit conversion by misrepresentation, force, undue influence, coercion, and allurement. In reality, it aims to criminalise the practice of faith and openly assaults fundamental rights of individuals," a press release said.

The protesters highlighted various irregularities about the bill, apart from its hasty tabling on Tuesday -- these claim the bill had a vague definition of the term "allurement", and it would legitimise hate crimes against minorities and give power to the state to determine "genuine intent".

Parents accuse school of punishing students for non-payment of fees

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

ALLEGING that students of Amaravani High School had been punished for non-payment of fees, several parents were involved in an altercation with the school management. The management, however, has stated that the allegations are untrue, and the parents haven't paid fees since 2019.

On Tuesday, around 40 parents protested outside Amaravani High School, Basaveshwara Nagar, claiming that the school had taken students out of their classes on Monday and left them on the school terrace. They also alleged that a few children had fallen ill due to exposure to the sun. The reason for the alleged punishment was non-payment of fees, that the parents claim they were not informed about.

However, school principal Venkatesh Reddy said the students were informed about the fees and were not punished. "Parents have not paid school fees since 2019, despite multiple requests to do so, so on Monday we gathered students whose fees hadn't been paid, and asked them to inform their parents. Our school doesn't have a terrace, there is no way students can be taken up as there are no stairs, these allegations are false," he told TNIE.

The school had apparently lowered fees multiple times to help parents, and is now at an all-time low. "The number of students being admitted annually is very low and almost all of the fee cost is going towards procuring books and uniforms for the children. We've also reduced teachers' salaries in the past few months because the situation is very bad," Reddy told TNIE.

"We had asked parents to pay the fees, and also told them that if a lump sum is not possible, they can pay in monthly instalments, but the school cannot function if fees are not paid," he said.

"An investigation is under way as to what exactly has happened and action will be taken accordingly," said Block Education Officer V Ramesh.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You may have every right to be pleased with your prowess at work. However, over the next few weeks you will have to face up to a number of hard choices which will affect your personal life and colour the way other people see you. An emotional adventure will be well worth it, though.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Is there some way in which you can rearrange your work to reflect your creative aspirations? Certainly there are many intriguing ideas afoot, all of which could form the basis of an interesting experiment. Yet the results will not be clear for another two months at least.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You can ignore family pressures or domestic irritations no longer. Today's intense lunar angles will compel you to deal with all long-delayed questions coming to the fore. Don't expect instant agreement or approval. But, then, you are growing used to waiting.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Important discussions may be more difficult than you anticipate. The simple reason is that everybody seems to place such unrealistic hopes on the outcome. Stick to your guns for now, and keep a close eye on the reactions of people you live with.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Financial news may not be pleasing, but the net result could be positive if it enables you to reorganise your affairs. There are some commitments which cannot be changed, but you still have some room for movement. And that, at least, has to be the best news.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Today's planetary aspects will offer you a shot in the arm, shaking you out of any complacent corners or ruts you've been hiding in. Don't expect dramatic events just yet - you may have to wait a few more days before the lie of the land is completely clear.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Something may happen to worry or upset you. Perhaps you will feel that other people are blaming you unfairly for things you haven't done. However, such concerns are illusions which will be dispelled when the facts are known. But that won't be until next week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You'll enjoy social activities all the more if you are ready for anything - and happy to join in without worrying about the consequences. Don't be hung up on excessively conventional standards of behaviour. After all, you really don't have to be the same as everyone else.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
It is professional rather than private affairs which are the focus of your concern today. The last thing you want to do is get involved in a quite unnecessary public slanging match, so watch your step, and give partners time to catch up with your desires.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The planets are on your case so to speak. The cosmos is expecting you to do your duty by combining self-interest with your higher principles. Quite apart from such lofty questions, you are still experiencing powerful travel stars. Sometimes you just have to pack and get going!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Check out new investment opportunities, and don't be unduly concerned if a previous course of action now appears to be distinctly unpromising or unprofitable. Act fast but keep your options open, for although your planets are concealing their intentions at the moment, you don't have long to wait.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There's a burst of turbulence in the cosmic atmosphere today, so expect stormy weather emotionally. Even if you keep your cool, partners are determined to pick a fight or provoke you somehow. And what you have to do now is keep very calm and never rise to the bait.

New app to give clear Covid picture

From swab collection to contact tracing, it will integrate data; to be rolled out soon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH the state government deciding to enhance surveillance for Covid-19 and Omicron management and contact tracing, officials from Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) and the health department are ready to roll out an integrated testing app, but are waiting for the thumbs-up from the government.

The app was conceptualised during the second wave in August but was put on hold. It is considered a one-stop portal for assessing and managing each Covid-19 case. The app will give information, right from swab collection, to the lab the sample is sent to, to test reports, SRFID number, BU number, list of contacts, triaging details, test results of contacts, progress report of Covid-19 and Omicron infections.

According to a health department press release, the integrated testing app will be rolled out on a pilot basis in BBMP areas, and if found feasible, will be extended to larger areas.

A senior BBMP official said: "The app is ready, only the government's nod is awaited for implementation. At present, swab samples are collected on the RT-PCR app of ICMR. There is no method to report it to the state or BBMP war room. The labs have another portal for uploading and details are shared with the health department and BBMP. But the new app will have all information, and will streamline data, which is crucial." After a meeting of state and central government health officials, the state health department has ordered that tele-triaging services be started again. Directions have also been issued to re-activate the state, central and Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike war rooms.

To strengthen the war rooms, BBMP officials are contacting volunteers who had worked with the government during the first and second wave, as they are already trained and aware of the method of functioning. Dedicated teams and officials will be deployed for contacting tracing, quarantine and isolation checks.

STEADY RISE IN ACTIVE CASES IN STATE

Bengaluru: Active Covid-19 cases, though fluctuating, have been on an upward trend in Karnataka and Bengaluru. Since November 25, they is an uptick in cases in the state, with the figures increasing from 7,074 to 7,138 on Wednesday. In Bengaluru, active cases have been rising from Nov 25.ENS

Quarantine must for int'l travellers in U-K

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @Karwar

IN the wake of the Omicron threat, the Uttara Kannada district administration has made quarantine mandatory for people coming from those countries grappling with the pandemic. To deal with possible Omicron cases, the administration has mandated eight days of quarantine for these people.

"The Union Government has notified about 20 countries which have been affected due to Omicron. The people coming from these countries will be screened at the airports and will be provided medical care if they test positive. If they are negative, the details of the passenger along with travel history will be dispatched to the respective districts. We will ensure home isolation for such passengers. But going a step further, we are hand-stamping," Mullai Muhilan, Deputy Commissioner, Uttara Kannada district, told TNIE.

The health of those in home isolation will be constantly monitored and tested | FILE

He said that once they are kept in home isolation, they will remain in quarantine with frequent tests being carried out. "They will be monitored constantly and will be tested once again on the eighth day, and will be allowed to come out only when they test negative," said Muhilan, adding, "We will paste a poster in front of their house, warning the public to stay away."

In case those in home isolation test positive, their sample will be sent for genome sequencing.

As a precautionary measure, the district health department has ramped up testing and is now conducting 2,500 tests daily. The borders have been put on high alert and the people coming from Maharastra and Kerala are constantly monitored. The district administration has said that in case of more cases of Omicron in any locality, it will treat them as a cluster. "This applies even to the Covid-19 cases, where they will be provided with doctors and ready medical services," Muhilan said.

Meanwhile, the number of Covid-19 cases in Joida has increased to 30. As many as 19 students tested positive in a girls' hostel on Tuesday. And another 11 were added on Wednesday.

However, the health department has provided medical facilities and has sealed the hostel to contain the spread.

'Secondary contacts have tested negative'

All their genome sequencing results came positive for the Omicron variant on Wednesday.

"She, along with her family members, tested positive with Omicron and have been shifted to a hospital. They have mild symptoms. Their secondary contacts all tested negative," said Dr Thrilok Chandra, Special Commissioner (Health), Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP).

A BBMP source said that in the first and second wave too, the apartment complex had seen many outbreaks, and three weeks ago, a cluster was reported after many people attended a birthday party. "There are thousands of people living in the apartment complex and we have been requesting them time and again to isolate foreign returnees in separate rooms till they test negative," the source said.

Flag burning, violence continue at state border

Despite resolution in K'taka Assembly, Shiv Sainiks hold protests

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi / Athani

SHIV Sena activists allegedly continued their streak of violence across the border areas. Shiv Sainiks on Wednesday burnt a Kannada flag at Maharana Pratap Chowk in Miraj town, in Sangli district of Maharashtra, and shouted slogans against the Karnataka Government.

The Government of Karnataka has passed a resolution in the ongoing session condemning incidents involving the insult of statues of historical icons Chhatrapati Shivaji and Sangolli Rayanna, besides the burning of flags. However, the Shiv Sena and other parties in Maharashtra have allegedly continued to insult the Kannada flag by burning it at different places. Ironically, the Maharashtra Government, with Shiv Sena chief Uddhav Thakeray at the helm, is yet to take any action against the miscreants.

Meanwhile, Shiv Sainiks, under the leadership of Chandrakant Maigure, reached the Miraj-Kagwad road in the limits of Miraj taluk at the Karnataka-Maharashtra border to protest against Karnataka. About 20 Shiv Sainiks who came from Miraj protested against the Karnataka Government by allegedly burning the Kannada flag, and also took out a procession carrying Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's effigy and shouting slogans against the Karnataka Government. The Maharashtra Police tried to control them and stopped them from crossing into Karnataka territory.

Meanwhile, Kannada activists have alleged that the State Government is not allowing them to stage any protest by imposing Section 144 in Belagavi, while the Maharashtra Government has allowed workers from its state to protest.

Struggle for healthcare

Every day, more then 200 patients from Karnataka visit Miraj, which is a hub of multi-specialty hospitals. Around 600 busesfrom Vijayapura, Bagalkot, Belagavi and Kalaburagi which ply to and from Miraj every day have stopped, which has badly affected the people who seek treatment.

Pro-Kannada activists seek ban on MES

KGF: The Karnataka Rakshana Vedike and members of other pro-Kannada organisations, under the leadership of Kannada Prakash, staged a protest against the defacement of a statue of Sangolli Rayanna in Belagavi recently, in front of the taluk office on Wednesday. The agitators earlier took out a procession on the main street and reached the taluk office, where they submitted a memorandum to the tahsildar. Prakash demanded that the State Government ban the Maharashtra Ekikaran Samiti in Karnataka. ENS

AMIDST SPECULATION, BOMMAI MAY TAKE BREAK FOR KNEE TREATMENT

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

AMIDST speculation within political circles over his early exit, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai is likely to take a break to have his knee treated in Bengaluru, after January 15. Though there was a buzz that he might travel to the US for treatment, sources said he might take a "small break" and recuperate in Bengaluru itself.

This comes amidst Bommai's statement at his hometown Shiggaon, where he stated that no post is permanent. The CM's statement triggered speculation of his early exit. On Sunday, Bommai who was at his assembly constituency, made an emotional speech where he said that nothing is permanent, including posts and positions. "No post is permanent," he stated, triggering speculations in political circles.

Sources in the BJP said there was a buzz that Bommai will be travelling to the US post Sankranthi for knee treatment. His son reportedly visited the US.

Sources also said that he has applied for visa to travel. However, there is no official confirmation from the Chief Minister's Office. A senior BJP leader on condition of anonymity said that presently, Bommai is busy with the legislature session in Belagavi. "Only after December 24, we will get clarity," the leader said.

Senior BJP leaders, however, have rubbished speculations over leadership change. Former CM BS Yediyurappa stated that there is no chance of change in leadership in Karnataka. He, however, hinted that the 2023 polls might not be fought under Bommai's leadership. During his visit to the state, Home Minister Amit Shah had announced that Karnataka Polls 2023 will be fought under Bommai's leadership.

Yediyurappa had also termed RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa's statement that Industries Minister Murgesh Nirani will be CM soon as a joke. Even as senior leaders put aside speculations, names of Union Minister for State Shobha Karandlaje, Vijayapura MLA Basavaraj Yatnal and Chikkamagaluru MLA CT Ravi are also doing rounds as the next CM of Karnataka, in some sections.

Sources in the BJP said the party is not very happy with the results of the MLC elections. "Bommai is doing constant rounds of Delhi, meeting party leaders. We do not know... it has not been discussed openly with any one of us so far," a senior minister said.

Bishops plan meeting to discuss way forward

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

WHILE the State Government is preparing to push the anti-conversion Bill through the legislature, a group of 14 bishops in Karnataka will soon meet to decide on waging a legal battle against the piece of legislation, which they feel will become a tool to target Christians over alleged forcible conversions.

Mysuru Bishop Rev Fr William said that they are not afraid of the Bill as they have never indulged in any conversions. The Mysuru diocese runs more than 150 institutions, imparting education to lakhs of children. "We have done enough service during Covid, but we've not lured anyone to convert," he stressed.

He said that it is unfortunate that a situation has arisen where a few individuals are making baseless charges. There is no need for such a law as there is already provision to punish those into forcible conversion. The group of bishops will meet soon to discuss the next course of action if the Act comes into effect in the state, he added.

Stating that the Constitution ensures equality, liberty and fraternity, he said no government should go against it.

ANTI-CONVERSION BILL

Speaker will allow exclusive debate today

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

WITH the Opposition demanding more time for discussion on the anti-conversion Bill, which was to be taken up on Wednesday, Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri announced that he will allow an exclusive debate in the House on the contentious Bill from 10 am to 1.30 pm on Thursday. The Bill, which was tabled in the House on Tuesday, is expected to kick up a storm when it is taken up for discussion.

Many in the Congress were eagerly waiting to take on the ruling party in the Assembly, anticipating a discussion on it on Wednesday, but decided against demanding for it after the Speaker set aside the whole day for discussion on important issues related to North Karnataka.

Several Congress legislators have raised serious objections to several clauses in the Bill and are wondering if they would get a chance to voice their opinions. "I have several objections to the Bill and I'm keen to raise some issues when the debate on it begins on Thursday. Most of the Opposition members are for a chance to speak," Khanapur MLA Anjali Nimbalkar.

Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee president D K Shivakumar is expected to lead the Opposition against the passage of the Bill as he has already expressed serious objections to it. He said the Bill was being passed for political gains and that there was no need for such a Bill when there already are laws to act against those indulging in forcible religious conversion.

Opposition leader in the Assembly, Siddaramaiah, said his party is opposing the Bill tooth and nail as it is being brought in the House with mala fide intentions.

According to sources, the Congress members are expected to boycott the House before the Bill is passed on Thursday. It will be interesting to see what stand the JDS members, led by H D Kumaraswamy, will take. Some of its members have opposed the Bill but whether they will join the Congress in opposing it remains to be seen.

On the other hand, the BJP members are confident of getting the Bill passed in the Assembly. The party feels it is necessary to bring such a Bill to prevent illegal conversions.

Soon after the anti-conversion Bill is passed in the Assembly, as expected by tomorrow afternoon, the discussion on North Karnataka development will resume.

Hotel owners concerned about impact of bandh

MANY organisations, including the Adarsha Auto and Taxi Drivers Association, have already extended support to the bandh. Association president M Manjunath said their 14,000 members will not ply their vehicles. Many other associations are extending support to the bandh, he added.

Karnataka Hotel Owners Association president Chandrashekar Hebbar said they will decide on supporting the bandh after consulting their district and taluk units. Hotel owners are concerned about the bandh impacting year-end business. While many organisations are likely to decide on extending their support to the bandh in the next two to three days, some have decided not to support it. A Kannada activist expressed displeasure over calling for bandh on December 31 when leaders of pro-Kannada organisations were addressing a press conference to announce the bandh. However, Vatal Nagaraj and Sa Ra Govindu said they will take everyone into confidence to ensure the bandh is successful.

Meanwhile, Revenue Minister R Ashoka has appealed to the pro-Kannada organisations not to go ahead with the bandh.

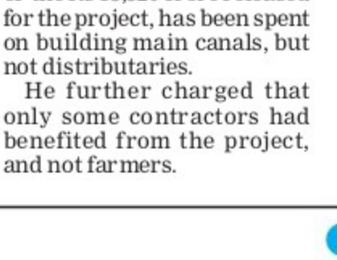
Treasury benches give wishy-washy replies: Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru



THE Opposition Congress on Wednesday expressed unhappiness on the "incomplete and irresponsible" answers provided by the treasury benches. Senior Congress leader Krishna Byre Gowda slammed the government on the floor of the House for "trying to hush up the issue" that he was trying to raise.

Later, he told TNIE that answers to serious questions about the massive drop in allocations to the five development SC/ST corporations are "extremely wishy-washy". He said that while the government answer indicated that there was a small revision, the cut was substantial and the government was clearly trying to avoid a discussion. Byre Gowda said his attempts to have a proper discussion on the issue were brushed aside.

Finally, Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri had the last word and adjourned the House, not allowing Byre Gowda to speak any further. "The allocations to five SC/ST corporations, which was Rs 1,383 crore in 2017-18, Rs 1,286 crore in 2018-19 and a mere Rs 281 crore in 2020-2021, shows a sharp drop of over Rs 1,000 crore, but they avoided giving these facts."

KPCC President D K Shivakumar told TNIE outside the House, "If we ask any questions, they give unconnected answers, or provide incomplete or wishy-washy answers. They have failed on all fronts as they have not provided support to farmers who lost heavily due to untimely rain, many lost homes but have not been compensated, unemployment rate is high, there is no development and they are trying to divert attention from issues by bringing in some bills."

MLA Dr Ranganath D said their questions evoke only irresponsible answers.

Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister J C Madhuswamy, however, disagreed. "I don't know which answers they are referring to. As far as Krishna Byre Gowda's question is concerned, Kota Sreenivas Poojary replied to him that we are unable to give more funds due to the pandemic, and funds will be increased in the coming days."

Seniors rap members for indiscipline

PRAMODKUMAR VAIDYA
@ Belagavi

IN a strange development, the conduct of members of the Assembly came under the scanner of seniors in the House. The latter also took serious exception over the members not sticking to rules and House discipline. The majority of them, including Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri, found that holding the sessions for a longer period was a solution to this continued problem and Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai also assured the House that it was being considered seriously.

The issue came up when several members wanted to speak on the same issue during zero hour. Irritated by this conduct of the members, the Speaker asked the members to follow rules and procedures of the House.

Intervening, former Speaker Ramesh Kumar expressed concern over the kind of language being used by members and their ignorance about rules and procedures. "If such conduct prevails, it will not become an assembly, but a congregation", he said, adding that the glory of the House was diminishing day by day. Stressing on training newly-elected members at the party level, Kageri said that each member was responsible for the smooth functioning of the House as they were under watch by the public. He, however, expressed concern that the people had also lost sensitivity and failed to elect proper representatives.

Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister J Madhuswamy said that instead of serious discussions on policies and programmes, time was being wasted in question and zero hours and call attention motions.

While JDS members H D Kumaraswamy and H D Revanna suggested fixing a time for political parties, with respect to their strength in the House, Congress member Krishna Byre Gowda said that parties should not change their stand once they change sides, and endorsed holding the session for a few more days.

Former chief minister B S Yediyurappa held the chair responsible for not maintaining order among the members.

Complete irrigation work in NK quickly: Legislators

PRAMODKUMAR VAIDYA
@ Belagavi

HIGHLIGHTING pending irrigation projects and other development work in North Karnataka, legislators called for implementation of the third phase of the Upper Krishna Project (UKP), while urging the State Government to put pressure on the Centre to issue gazette notification on the same and expedite the land acquisition process.

Congress' MB Patil said the land acquisition process has been vitiated due to confusion over the guidance value. The government should clear this, he said.

Former CM H D Kumaraswamy said in the last 11 years, only 22,309 acres had been acquired out of the needed 1.33 lakh acres. Also, the majority of the Rs 13,320 crore released for the project, has been spent on building main canals, but not distributaries.

He further charged that only some contractors had benefited from the project, and not farmers.

AYUSH university to turn Shivamogga into education hub

ARUNKUMAR HURALIMATH & RAMACHANDRA V GUNARI
@ Belagavi, Shivamogga

WITH a vision to include practitioners of traditional medicine into the mainstream, the State Government has plans to set up the Karnataka State AYUSH University at Sogane village near Shivamogga city. A Bill was passed in this regard during the ongoing session in the Legislative Council at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha on Wednesday.

"The AYUSH University will throw light on Ayurveda, Yoga, Naturopathy, Unani, Siddha, Homoeopathy and Sowa Rigpa (Tibetan medicine) medicinal practices. More research and development will be taking place at the dedicated varsity, a first of its kind in South India," shared Medical Education and Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar.

With this, the district will now emerge as an education hub. The university is coming up on over 100 acres of land. The State Government has also sanctioned Rs 20 crore towards its establishment.

Shivamogga MP B Y Raghavendra told TNIE: "This initiative would provide scope for direct employment to about 500 people and indirect employment to over 5,000. Above all, if the university starts a drug production unit on campus, it would again provide jobs for local people, and contribute to the all-round development of Shivamogga district."

It was senior BJP leader D H Shankaramurthy's initiative to establish an ayurvedic medical college in Shivamogga, which was supported by former CM B S Yediyurappa, who gave a new dimension to the idea.

Talking to TNIE, Shankaramurthy said, "For the past few years, people across the globe are looking for alternate medicine. Ayurveda education is also picking up in most developed countries. Establishment of the AYUSH University would support research."

Meanwhile, there are 953 colleges under the ambit of RGUHS including 105 AYUSH colleges and the workload on the varsity is more. As a result, the authorities are unable to focus more on AYUSH. Dr Sudhakar said, "A total of three doctors, including two from allopathy and one from AYUSH, will be recruited at PHCs in the state."

However, JDS MLC Marithibbegowda questioned the rationale behind having a separate varsity. Though there is a dedicated university (Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences) for medical education, there is no need for another facility, he added.

Sasi nephew grilled in Kodanad case

Of 81 people investigated, this is first time close aide of Sasikala quizzed in heist, murder incident

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Coimbatore

VK Sasikala's nephew, and managing director of Jaya News Channel Vivek Jayaraman was interrogated by a special team of the Nilgiris district police in connection with the Kodanad estate heist-cum-murder case at the PRS premises in Coimbatore on Wednesday.

This is the first time someone close to Sasikala has been questioned by police in connection with the case. According to sources, Jayaraman appeared before the special team, along with his advocate, on Wednesday at 1.45 pm. The interrogation continued till 5.10 pm.

Sources said he was summoned by the police in connection to the ownership of the estate. Earlier, the estate manager S Natarajan was also interrogated.

According to information gathered from Natarajan, Jayaraman had allegedly administered the property under his control after the incident. Police sources said Jayaraman was questioned on the documents and valuables kept in the estate. The police were, otherwise, tight-lipped after the interrogation.

As many as 81 persons have been investigated by the special team of police after reopening the case afresh since September, said sources privy to the investigation.

While hearing a case in the Madras High Court, demanding further investigation be quashed, the State government had argued that the police have yet to question Sasikala, and demanded a reopening of the case.

Earlier, in September, three suspects in the case -- D Deepu, MS Satheesan and A Santhosh Samy -- filed a petition before the Madras High Court, demanding to summon and examine Sasikala and others before the trial court.

The court directed the State Public Prosecutor to file a response. Meanwhile, the State has taken up the reinvestigation.

ED attaches ₹40+ crore worth assets in investment fraud case

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) has issued Provisional Attachment Order attaching assets worth Rs 40.64 crore of crime proceeds in a more than Rs 300-crore App-based investment fraud case under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA), 2002.

The case about massive fraud committed by a number of dubious merchants, who had taken investments from people after routing the transactions through fraudulent Apps using services of payment solution providers, is being investigated by the Cyber Crime Division (CCD), Criminal Investigation Department (CID), Karnataka.

According to the ED, "The accused entities induced the public to invest through Powerbank/Sunfactory Apps by assuring to remit interest on a daily or weekly basis. They closed their purported business after collecting huge sums of money from gullible public. They neither paid interest nor did they return the principal amount to the investors. They withheld their investments through Powerbank and other such fraudulent Apps," the Central agency stated.

The ED had initiated the investigation under the PMLA on the basis of an FIR dated June 1, registered by the CCD, CID, under Sections 420 of the IPC and 66(D) of the Information Technology Act.

"The investigation revealed that the accused entities committed massive fraud and cheated the public by accepting investment in crores of rupees by setting up a merchant account imitating a seemingly legitimate business and fraudulently availed payment solutions from payment gateway and payment solution companies. The accused floated untenable investment schemes through Apps listed on Google Playstore. They promised huge returns on the invested amount on a daily or weekly basis, but went incommunicado after collecting more than Rs 300 crore. The funds were stashed into the accused entities' bank accounts," the ED stated.

The Central revenue enforcement agency, after identifying assets worth Rs 40.64 crore in the form of movable properties, credit balance in the bank accounts of the accused and amount withheld with the payment solution providers, has provisionally attached the same under PMLA.

K'taka to get 6th tiger reserve after session

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

SOON after the winter session of the state legislature, Karnataka will get its sixth and most awaited tiger reserve — the Male Mahadeshwara (MM Hills) Wildlife Sanctuary. The long-pending demand of the state Forest Department, conservationists and experts is now taking shape. The National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA) had given its approval in July while the State Board for Wildlife had cleared it in 2018 itself.

"All the papers are in order and the proposal is ready to be placed before the cabinet for a Government Order. The declaration becomes important as the State Government has been dragging its feet due to political reasons. But it does not realise that declaring a tiger reserve means getting more funds and ensuring better wildlife protection. This is also the reason why neighbouring states are working and declaring more reserves.

"Every time the proposal came up, politicians would raise the Naxal issue in Kudremukh and MM Hills, and it would get sidelined. But now, with the tiger census approaching, declaring MM Hills a reserve will help. Besides, issuing a GO is just a formality as the Union Ministry of Environment, Forests and Climate Change has already approved it," sources in the forest department said.

Forest Department officials said it is also important as the State Government, in the budget, had announced the creation of Veerappan trails in the MM Hills region where the dreaded forest brigand once tread.

The MM Hills forests, spread across 90,618.75 hectares, is home to over 20 tigers and cubs and has sufficient space for the tiger population to thrive. The adjoining tiger habitats such as Biligiri Ranganathaswamy Temple and Satyamangalam Tiger Reserves act as an effective source-sink landscape for tiger and prey population. It is also part of the Nilgiri Biosphere Reserve, which has the highest density of tigers, as per the NTCA in all tiger census reports.

The MM Hills are already a notified area of the Mysuru Elephant Reserve and, according to Forest Department estimates in 2010, the elephant density in the area is 5.05 per sqkm. The protected area spreads over 906.19 sqkm including Hanur Reserve Forest of 75 sqkm, Yediyarahalli Reserve Forest of 442.70 sqkm and Male Mahadeshwara Reserve Forest of 388.48 sqkm.

HC imposes cost on husband in child custody case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TAKING note of the husband marrying another women despite a suit for dissolution of the first marriage pending before a family court, taking shelter under the umbrella of Mohammedan Law, the Karnataka High Court dismissed a petition filed by the man seeking to quash the order passed by the family court rejecting his application for custody of the child born to his first wife, and imposed a cost of Rs 50,000.

"Now it has been well settled that the act of a Muslim man in espousing a second wife during the subsistence of first marriage, per se, amounts to cruelty and that not only the first wife can stay away from the matrimonial home, but seek divorce on that ground too. If the wife can stay away from the matrimonial home on the ground of second marriage, it goes without saying that she can normally retain the exclusive custody of her minor child...," said Jusice Krishna S Dixit while dismissing the petition.

The court further said the first wife agreed to put an end to criminal cases and asked this court to quash them straightaway. However, the petitioner-husband was "unjustifiably adamant and stuck to his guns", though he has been happily residing with the second wife and the child begotten from her, the court added while directing the petitioner to pay the cost to the first wife within a month, failing which all his visitation rights granted will stand suspended.

Verdict reserved on pleas against ban of online games

The Karnataka High Court on Wednesday reserved the verdict of a batch of petitions challenging the ban on online games in the state. A division bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justice Krishna S Dixit reserved the order after hearing the arguments of the petitioners' counsel and the Advocate General. The petitioners have challenged the validity of the amendment brought by the State Government to the Karnataka Police Act, to prohibit and criminalise playing of games of skill, including online games, by risking money or otherwise.

ADDRESS POVERTY, EDUCATION TO CURB CHILD MARRIAGE

In a necessary move, the Union government has referred the controversial Prohibition of Child Marriage (Amendment) Bill, 2021, to a Standing Committee of Parliament. However, while doing so, the BJP-led NDA claimed that progressive decisions of the government were being stalled. The Bill, if passed, will effectively raise the age at which women can marry from 18 to 21, on par with men. The reason for this endeavour is ostensibly to prevent child marriages and reduce teenage pregnancies. However, there are valid reasons as to why this piece of legislation is unlikely to make any difference to the prevalence of child marriage (a practice that cuts across regions and religions and has increased over the course of the pandemic).

First, the Bill says it will reduce teen pregnancies, ensuring the health and safety of young mothers. However, 18 is effectively the age of consent to sex, with the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act defining a child as a person under that age. Does the government believe that the only people in the nation having consensual sex and getting pregnant are married couples? Second, an 18-year-old can drive, vote, drink and consent to sex. Why does a person able to make decisions for the country have to wait three more years to get married? Third, has legislation on marriageable age eradicated child marriages? Of course not. According to the National Family Health Survey-4 (2015–16), about a fourth of women (26.8%) aged 20–24 were married before they turned 18. This fell only marginally to 23.3% in the NFHS-5 (2019–21) despite the 2006 legislation raising a woman's age for marriage to 18.

Yet, in states such as TN, the NFHS-5 showed only 12.8% of women married before they turned 18 while in Kerala, arguably India's most developed state, the figure was just 6.3%. Experts point out that addressing poverty and ensuring education for the girl child are the factors that will actually reduce child marriage and ensure better maternal health. Yet, in the absence of meaningful investments to facilitate these improvements, legislation will only serve to criminalise the families of girls and leave them more vulnerable.

BOOMING BUSINESS OF CYBERSECURITY

Corporate plans may be in the freezer and the economy in the doldrums, but the one sector that is showing galloping growth is the cybersecurity industry. Relatively new to India, the business of firewalling computers has shown a combined annual growth rate (CAGR) of 40% over the last two years. Revenue from sale of products and services by the cybersecurity industry showed a jump to $9.86 billion, more than doubling from just about $4.3 billion in 2019, a study conducted by the Data Security Council of India (DSCI) showed. Worldwide, the cybersecurity industry is a $156 billion business and is expected to double by 2026. However, its growth at about 14.6% annually is slower than that in India, which is emerging only second to China as a cyber hub.

It is no surprise that the security investment of corporate groups and the government took a leap during the pandemic, as the closure of physical offices forced operations to shift online. As the Internet of Things (IoT) and machine-to-machine (M2M) technology connect gadgets and computer systems 'talk' to each other, the stakes involved in case of intrusion and data breaches are becoming very high. Last year, we saw the number of cybercrimes—ranging from bank frauds to phishing—almost double to 50,035 from 27,248 complaints reported in 2018.

The good news is that, since the Cosmos Bank got cleaned out of ₹94 crore in an overnight computer heist in Pune in 2018, cybersecurity is on the boardroom agenda of almost every corporate group; and the talent pool serving the industry has almost doubled to over 2 lakh technicians and engineers since 2019. On the flip side, the government, as the largest purveyor and stockist of information, is not doing enough to safeguard its citizens. This was evident when UIDAI data (Aadhaar) of over 1.1 billion Indians leaked out in 2018 from various government websites. Cybersecurity education and ramping up the talent pool serving the industry is a crying need. The other big question mark, as the Pegasus case has shown, is: Who protects the privacy of ordinary citizens when the 'snooping' is by the government?

In climate science, everything is about trade-offs. By now, researchers realise that there is really no technology that does not harm the earth, sea or atmosphere

THE COMPLEXITY OF ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT CALCULATIONS

PROSENJIT DATTA

Senior business journalist

SOUMYADIP SINHA

When climate change and global warming decisions began initially, policymakers quickly zeroed in on emissions of various greenhouse gases as the primary culprit. Fuels were quickly labelled as dirty or clean, largely based on the emissions. Solar, wind and hydro were clean, green and renewable sources of power whereas coal and petroleum were big villains. Natural gas was also bad, though not as bad as coal or crude oil.

Since then, great strides have been made in terms of solar and wind farms, rooftop solar, and lithium-ion batteries to store power and electric vehicles (EVs) that will not use dirty petrol or diesel and hence help cut emissions that are contributing to global warming.

The focus on emissions has also helped in reaching multiple broad agreements between groups of countries, though not a total consensus. Ambitious targets of emission cuts and replacement of dirty fuels with clean ones have been set.

But as climate researchers assess the environmental impact of different activities, they are pointing out that the issues are not as black and white as policymakers—especially those in developed countries—like to think. Multiple questions have cropped up: How clean are clean sources of energy? What is the long-term impact of mining activities done to fulfil the world's increasing appetite for EVs and hence lithium batteries? Are petroleum and coal nearly as bad as they are painted to be?

Take for example the environmental footprint of solar panels. These have come to the forefront in the climate change battle as their prices keep going down, largely because of large-scale production in China. It took some time before people started looking at the environmental cost of cheaper solar panels. Many Chinese solar panel makers depended on cheap coal-fired power. Solar panels made using renewable sources of energy cost far more. Of late, many Chinese solar panel makers have started using alternative sources of energy but a vast majority of the panels currently installed globally don't have as clean a footprint as many like to think.

Broaden the discussion from emissions to overall environmental impact and suddenly the calculations become even more trickier for solar panels. Photovoltaic cells contain cadmium, gallium, germanium, selenium, tellurium and other minerals. These, in turn, are often the by-products of mining and refining operations of other metals and minerals. Most of these mining and refining activities have a very significant environmental impact, and a lot of it is not emission-related. Beyond that, there is a matter of disposal of end-of-life solar panels. Recycling capacities have not yet caught up with the solar panel installations, and in a decade or so, we will be looking at another huge environmental problem because of discarded solar panels.

The story of solar panels is repeated in the case of wind turbines, with some changes here and there. Wind turbines generate clean power but the materials required for building them are hardly ecologically friendly.

> The electric vehicle race in the US and EU is giving rise to a mining boom in the Lithium Triangle countries—Chile, Argentina and Bolivia. This will leave a huge impact on the ecology of these nations

The lithium question is even more complicated and shows how the interests of the developed countries can diverge from those of underdeveloped nations. The demand for lithium-ion batteries has shot up as developed countries have set ambitious goals for EV adoption. In turn, that has led to an increased focus on lithium mining and refining—white oil as it has been dubbed. That is good news economically but bad news on the environmental front for the Lithium Triangle countries—Chile, Argentina and Bolivia.

The EV race in the US and EU is giving rise to a mining boom in the Lithium Triangle countries that will leave a huge impact on the ecology of some regions. But it is a trade-off that is necessary to reduce the emissions by richer countries.

Meanwhile, what was once considered the dirtiest fuel source—coal—is getting a relook. Underground coal gasification and other clean coal technologies like carbon capture, utilisation and storage (CCUS) produce important fuels while reducing emissions to negligible proportions. Or take the case of grey and green hydrogen. The gas is considered one of the most promising clean fuels. The problem is that currently we produce what is dubbed "grey hydrogen", which requires the gasification of coal or lignite. It is thus considered a dirty fuel. A somewhat cleaner hydrogen is the so-called "blue hydrogen", which is produced by steam methane reformation with the emissions captured through CCUS technology. The holy grail for green scientists is "green hydrogen", where the gas is made by the electrolysis of water. The only issue: The process is prohibitively expensive and impractical so far. Whether that will change in the coming decades is open to question though research is going on.

In climate science, everything is about trade-offs. By now, scientists and researchers realise that there is really no technology that does not harm the earth, sea or atmosphere. The issue is choosing those that do the least harm and also design ways to restore the damage being done. And that is what the climate battle is all about.

EARLY NARASIMHA SCULPTURES FROM KARNATAKA

R H KULKARNI

Professor, Dept of Art History, College of Fine Arts, Karnataka Chitrakala Parishath

Narasimha, the fourth incarnation of Vishnu, is an important form in Indian sculpture and painting. The zoo-anthropomorphic form has been a popular divinity. The form of Narasimha was exclusively manifested to punish Hiranyakashipu to protect his child devotee Prahlada. The Vishnu Purana and Bhagavata Purana have elaborate accounts of the narration of this incarnation of the God to protect Prahlada from his father Hiranyakashipu. The death of Hiranyakashipu at the hands of Narasimha has been vividly narrated in Indian mythology and lore. There are many mantra-stutis done by various seers and saints in ancient India: Child devotee Prahlada, Shankaracharya, Ramanujacharya and Madhwacharya have written stutis to please the mighty God. In their prayers, Narasimha's person, mane, anger and sharp nails have been praised.

It is interesting to note that we are only aware of this Ugra (fierce) form of Narasimha in most of early literature, while his kevala/girija (benign) forms are scarce. However, in early Indian sculpture, images have been surprisingly only seen in the latter form. Early examples of Narasimha began to be carved around the 3–4th centuries CE. The Guptas, Vakatakas (Vidarbha), Vishnukundins (Andhra) and Kadambas (Karnataka) are some of the rulers who patronised the Vedic faith during these centuries, and Hindu art and architecture began to flourish everywhere.

There are a good number of Narasimha images found in Karnataka that are datable to the 4–6th centuries CE. The Narasimha sculptures from the Kadamba period are undoubtedly the earliest examples in peninsular India. A majority of the images depict the God's post-combat form and the physical features show that they represent the benign aspect of the deity. In this form, the deity is shown in seated or standing posture and sometimes with his ayudhas. The artists of the Kadamba period favoured the seated form of Narasimha. Before the introduction of the zoo-anthropomorphic form, they employed the zoomorphic form of the deity.

A zoomorphic stone image of Narasimha has been found in the Kodlu forest, near Tirthahalli in Shimoga district. The image is shown seated in a rampant position and is being worshipped even today by the locals. The zoo-anthropomorphic representation of Narasimha is also found in good numbers all over the Kadamba region. What we are generally acquainted with is the Ugra form of the God shown as tearing open the entrails of Hiranyakashipu. However, the early forms of Narasimha found in the Kadamba region are totally different. The figures are generally shown in seated postures in sukhasana or savyalalitasana. Three types of deities may be found in the region: Narasimha sculptures depicted without any weapons in the hands; sculptures with the bahubijaphala (auspicious seed, fruits) held in the right hand, while the left is again idle; Narasimha figures with either shankha or chakra as their attribute. Interestingly, the majority of the images found so far and datable to the Kadamba period have two hands. Most of them are simple in form; they have minimal decoration and in a noteworthy feature, the yajnopavita (sacred thread) is absent. Interestingly, the lotus is invariably depicted on the head of the figure. In many examples, the lotus motif is shown like a crown (Padma Sirsha), with a central projection and petals spreading evenly all around. The lotus symbolises the samyak jnana (supreme knowledge) of a person.

Narasimha in kevala form found at Halasi (Belgaum district) has simple features. The image, about two feet in height, is depicted as seated in sukhasana and holding a saligrama (auspicious stone) in the right hand, while the left hand is kept on the thigh. The details of the face are very much lion-like. The mane is shown in circular form as freely spread around the neck. The physique of the deity is realistically rendered. A lotus is carved over the head and the deity wears a dhoti up to the knees. The sculpture is dated to the early 4th century CE. Its typology may also be compared with its counterpart in Ramtek near Nagpur.

More refined features in Narasimha sculptures may be seen in the images found at Kubaturu and Kuppagadde (Shimoga district), Basruru and Mugduru-Sampikeri (Uttarakannada District), and Nilogal (Koppal district). The Narasimha sculptures are depicted as seated in sukhasana. The bodily details are better rendered. The torso, arms, legs and facial details are carved realistically. The deity also has a lotus crown, shown projected upward. The mane is divided into wavy locks and spread evenly on either side of the face. The deity has a coiled armlet, bangle-like wristlets and twisted, thick rope-like waistband. These Narasimha images are more developed in their physical modulation than the Halasi sculpture and may be dated to the later part of the 4th century CE. All the images found in the Kadamba region have been carved in local stone. A terracotta image of Narasimha from Nilogal is the only sculpture found so far in that medium. The face and left side shoulder are badly mutilated, but with its existing features, it may be confirmed to be the imagery of Narasimha. The images developed as independent sculptures with two arms, without or with weapons, and exhibit early features. Stylistically and formally, they are coeval in date and iconography to those found in North India and Vidarbha. The tradition of similar image-making was later inherited by the early Chalukyas of Badami.

Narasimha as an early avatara of Vishnu became very popular among the Bhagavatic practitioners. The benign form of Narasimha was developed with a great sense of devotion. Perhaps the earliest example of Narasimha in combat can be seen only in 578 CE at Cave 3 in Badami. In the post-Chalukya era, Narasimha developed as an independent cultic deity, venerated by a large number of people.

Cleaning up of voter list

The passing of the Bill to link Aadhaar with the voter ID card is a far-reaching move towards eradicating bogus voting in the nation. This is especially useful at a time when the opposition seems to be making plans to place hurdles in the BJP's path before the next general elections. The move will help clean the voter list and prevent multiple enrolments of a person in different places.

Kerala HC decision apt

The Kerala High Court's dismissal of the petition about removing the PM's picture on vaccine certificates is apt. The fact that the court has imposed a heavy fine as punishment shows that the present trend of filing petitions for even non-issues, resulting in the loss of time and resources, is being viewed very seriously. The verdict would hopefully be a deterrent and stop people from trying to file unnecessary petitions.
G Krishnakumar, Ernakulam

Need only national emblem

I disagree with the verdict of the Kerala HC. The vaccine certificate is an official document issued by the Government of India. Only the national emblem should find place in such documents. The prime minister's photo may undermine the value of the national emblem, which is always above the individuals occupying such posts.

Empower Malaiyaha Tamils

This is with reference to The plight of Tamils of Indian origin in Sri Lanka (Dec 22). It is disheartening to learn that the Malaiyaha Tamils in Sri Lanka continue to face discrimination based on their origins. The suggestion that children of this marginalised community could be helped to pursue education in secondary schools and colleges in Tamil Nadu deserves consideration by the TN government and concerned NGOs. This will empower the Malaiyaha Tamils in their struggle for equality and dignity.

Insensitive comments

Cricketer Ravichandran Ashwin's anguish when former coach Ravi Shastri pompously declared that Kuldeep Yadav would be India's number one Test spinner overseas was profound. It even made him contemplate throwing in the towel. Fortunately for the Men in Blue, better sense prevailed and Ashwin silenced his critics, including Shastri, with some fine performances, culminating in his bagging the Man of the Series award in the three-Test series against New Zealand.

Rise in political killings

Political violence has been raising its head in different parts of India recently. Two people were killed in Punjab for allegedly committing sacrilege. It is ironic that 'secular' political leaders are reluctant to speak out against these killings. It is also worrisome that instead of trying to restore peace, some are trying to take advantage of the tense situation and swing the Sikh votes in their favour ahead of the Assembly polls.

Govt & Oppn spar over House productivity

Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha adjourned one day ahead of schedule as both sides blame each other for disruptions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

BOTH the Houses of Parliament were adjourned sine die on Wednesday. The Rajya Sabha witnessed a deadlock over the suspension of 12 MPs, with the Opposition cornering the government demanding that Minister of State for Home Ajay Mishra Teni be sacked in relation to the Lakhimpur Kheri incident.

The Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha were adjourned in succession within a short duration after proceedings started at 11 am. The Lower House registered 82% productivity, while the Upper House clocked productivity of 47.90%, fifth lowest in the last four years, during the winter session that started on November 29.

The House saw some key legislations passed by the government while the bill to repeal the three farm laws was moved first and passed unanimously.

Before adjourning the House, Rajya Sabha Chairman Venkaiah Naidu urged the members to realise that what happened (in the House) was wrong. On the first day of the session, 12 opposition MPs were suspended for unruly behaviour during the monsoon session and TMC MP Derek O'Brien was suspended on Tuesday after he hurled rule book at the secretary general's table. His suspension lasted only a day.

Congress MPs led by Sonia Gandhi leave Parliament on Wednesday, as home minister Amit Shah comes out of the House | PTI

The suspended MPs, who were sitting in front of the Gandhi statue, read from the Preamble of the Constitution to register their protest. The government had insisted they should apologise which was rejected by the Opposition.

"I am not happy to share with you that the House functioned much below its potential. I urge all of you to collectively and individually reflect and introspect if this session could have been different and better. I don't want to speak elaborately on the course of the session as it would make me take a very critical view," Naidu said.

The government hit out at the Opposition for the disruptions in both Houses. Union Minister for Parliamentary Affairs Pralhad Joshi told reporters that the Opposition hasn't been able to digest the 2019 mandate for the BJP. Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla stressed on discussions to find solutions for issues concerning the people in the House.

O'Brien, on the other hand, accused the government of mocking at and dismantling democracy and slow-poisoning Parliament. "This government has tried to manufacture a majority in the Upper House by suspending 12 MPs," he said.

Parliament's session is the time to raise people's issues. But the Opposition failed in in its role to raise pro-people issues. That is why people have also ignored them

The intention of the government was to get their bills passed urgently in the din and without a discussion. This was a conspiracy on the part of the government. They wanted to fulfil their agenda

SKILL TRAINING OF MIGRANT WORKERS BELOW TARGET

OVER 1.24 LAKH MIGRANT WORKERS, WHO RETURNED TO THEIR HOME STATES DURING THE COVID-INDUCED LOCKDOWN LAST YEAR, HAVE BEEN IMPARTED SKILL TRAINING UNDER THE MINISTRY OF SKILL DEVELOPMENT AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP'S GARIB KALYAN ROJGAR ABHIYAN. THIS IS BELOW THE TARGETED NUMBER OF 3 LAKH.

SKILL-MAPPING
Centre launched Garib Kalyan Rojgar Abhiyan (GKRA) to provide immediate employment and livelihood opportunities to migrant workers who returned home last year. Skill-mapping of migrant labourers was done to enhance their employability so that they could find work closer to their homes.

IN 125 DAYS
In collaboration with district authorities, Centre rolled out the programme for skill training in 125 days in November 2020. District skill committees were entrusted with mobilising candidates, identifying their aspirations and facilitating batch creation based on local job opportunities.

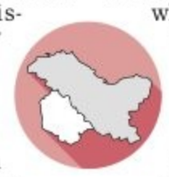
FIVE JOB ROLES
Officials said five job roles were identified — mason, self-employed tailor, sewing machine operator, assistant electrician, organic grower. Six nodal officers were appointed to handhold, monitor and facilitate the district administration. Virtual training meetings were held with the states' principle secretaries and collectors.

DELIMITATION EXERCISE

Gupkar Alliance to move SC if draft plan is not revised

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

EVEN though the Gupkar Alliance has threatened to move Supreme Court if the draft proposal of six additional seats for Jammu and only one for Kashmir by the Delimitation Commission figures in its final report, People's Conference chairman and former minister Sajjad Gani Lone has said that the Commission's report is legally unchallengeable.



Talking to this daily, NC MP and Gupkar Alliance coordinator Justice (Retd) Hasnain Masoodi said the alliance would be jointly moving Supreme Court if the draft proposal figures in the Commission's final report.

On Monday, at its meeting with five associate members (3 NC MPs and 2 BJP MPs) from J&K, the Delimitation Commission proposed in its draft six additional seats for Jammu and one for Kashmir. It also proposed seven seats for SCs and nine for STs.

The delimitation exercise is being carried out under the 2011 census according to which Kashmir had a population of 6,888,475 (56.28%), while Jammu region had 5,350,811 (43.71%). "Our reasoning is, the delimitation exercise offends Constitutional values and ethics. Delimitation Commission organises powers under J&K Re-Organisation Act which is under challenge in Supreme Court. It is under judicial scrutiny," Masoodi said.

He said in their letter to the Delimitation Commission on February 17, they had informed that the exercise is unconstitutional. "I told Commission head Justice (Retd) Ranjana Prakash Desai on Monday that it will be preempting the Supreme Court judgment and will be against the core Constitutional values."

People's Conference chairman Sajjad Lone said the report cannot be challenged. "It cannot be legally challenged in a court of law," he said.

Thousand-plus CBI cases pending

New Delhi: Over a thousand cases are pending for investigation with the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI), India's premier investigation agency. These include 67 cases from across the country that have been pending for the past five years. According to figures shared through a written reply in the Lok Sabha recently, the total number of pending cases with the agency was 1,256 as of November 25. Dr Jitendra Singh, Minister of State for Personnel, Public Grievances and Pensions, said three of the 67 five-year-old cases pending with the CBI are from Rajasthan. Between January 1, 2018 and June 30, 2021, CBI filed charge sheets in 84 cases against 96 senior officials of the central government, including officers selected through the Union Public Service Commission. Between 2017 to 2020, CBI raided the premises of 42 public representatives following written complaints against them. ENS

Women commandos had 10-week training

THE commandos had completed their 10-week training on December 10 in rendering VIP security duties, unarmed combat, body frisking and special weapons firing. They will now be deployed on the ground around the second week of January 2022, sources said.

Initially, these commandos will be deployed with CRPF's Z-plus category protectees based in Delhi. According to sources, over a dozen protectees will have the CRPF's new women commando contingent on a rotational basis.

The commandos will be deployed as part of the house protection team of the VIPs and they will also accompany the personalities, if required, during the upcoming polls in Uttar Pradesh, Punjab, Uttarakhand, Manipur and Goa.

As part of the house protection duties, the commandos will frisk female visitors and they will also be part of the overall security detail of the VIP's house during tours.

Sources added that the newly trained commandos will also provide proximate security to the protectees, especially in the case of Sonia and Priyanka.

Like their male counterparts, the women CRPF commandos will also carry arms, ballistic protection and other gadgets as required on the job. Elections in five states are expected to be held in February-March next year and a hectic political campaign is likely with politicians, party leaders and ministers gearing up to make whirlwind tours.

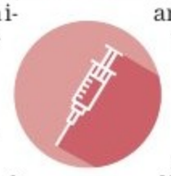
Meeting this week to discuss Covid booster shots

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

AMID fresh scientific understanding that Covid-19 booster doses may cut the risk of death in the most vulnerable by at least 5%, the country's top advisory body on immunisation is set to meet again to discuss additional doses and vaccination for kids.

Sources in the National Technical Advisory Group on Immunisation said the panel is meeting this week to deliberate on additional shots of Covid-19 vaccines for those categorised as the high-risk and vulnerable population groups and those under 18 years of age.

"We are meeting again this week and all the latest evidence as well as the WHO policy and advisories on the Omicron variant will be discussed before we finalise our recommendation," said a senior member of the panel.



The last meeting of NTAGI, held on December 6, had not given any recommendations either on additional vaccinations or shots for kids, mainly due to difference of opinion among members and lack of concrete statistical evidence from India.

Recently, researchers from the Imperial College, London, and some other institutions estimated that prioritising boosters for the elderly and high-risk groups ahead of an Omicron wave could reduce deaths by an additional 5% compared to using those doses on younger age groups.

A senior epidemiologist associated with ICMR, meanwhile, said a policy that prioritises boosters for any special groups of populations over full vaccination for younger people may contradict India's current policy of prioritising full vaccination for all adults first, as suggested by the WHO.

In India, demand for booster doses on the other hand, has intensified with many doctors and sections of public health experts citing concerns regarding waning immunity and growing evidence that boosters can help save the lives of the elderly, the immuno-compromised and those with chronic health ailments.

Rlys struggling to curb huge losses

New Delhi: CONTRARY to the Centre's claims, the Comptroller and Auditor General of India's latest report tabled in Parliament on Tuesday showed that it has been struggling with losses. According to the report, the railways incurred a loss of ₹26,388 crore in the last one year, though the Ministry had claimed a net surplus of `1,589 crore. Stating that the operating ratio (amount spent to earn every ₹100) has increased from 97.29% in 2018-19 to 98.36% in 2019-20, the report added that the latter figure didn't "reflect the true financial performances of the railways" and would go up to 114.35% if actual expenditure on pension payments were take into account.

RSS farm wing to hold agitations demanding law on MSP

New Delhi: Stating that the Central government only thought of the farmer unions agitating at Delhi borders, the farm wing of Rashtriya Swayamsewak Sangh (RSS), Bharatiya Kisan Sangh (BKS) on Wednesday said it would launch the next phase of agitation to press for remunerative prices for farm produces. The BKS said it will hold agitations across the country in all the villages from January 1-10. The organisation will also hold agitations at all the blocks in the country on January 11. The BKS general secretary Badrinarayan Choudhary said the organisation had given suggestions to improve the farm laws to ensure remunerative prices. "Farmers were hopeful that the government had come up with reforms for the trade of the farm produces. If the laws had incorporated the suggestions offered by us, the living conditions of the farmers may have improved," added Choudhary. The BKS has been pressing for legal guarantee for the remunerative prices, and had launched agitations in different parts of the country in September this year. ENS

Manufacturers sore as PSU gets IAF contract to upgrade cellular network

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

THE India Air Force has decided to upgrade its dedicated cellular network, Air Force Cellular (AFCEL), from 3G Wideband Code Division Multiple Access (WCDMA) technology to 4GLTE/5G NSA.

AFCEL network is part of the IAF's critical information infrastructure which is integral to its network-centric operational capability. The existing 3G WCDMA network equipment of the IAF is reaching obsolescence and is scheduled to reach 'end of life' by February 2022.

Accordingly, in order to ensure that operational readiness of IAF does not get compromised, a request for proposal (RFP) was floated to acquire the desired operational capability within one year.

Giving paramount importance to confidentiality of the network design and its architecture, the IAF issued the RFP only to public sector undertakings (PSUs). The idea was "to limit proliferation of sensitive information/ encryption used by defence services."

Before floating the RFP, however, the IAF held detailed discussion with India's prominent private cellular original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) who were asked to make presentations. According to IAF, the Indian OEMs who participated did not present a prototype of a complete end-to-end solution. The work was, therefore, awarded to public sector firm ITI Ltd.

The drafting of the IAF tender and its award to ITI Ltd has caused a furore in local telecom industry circles. Private telecom equipment manufacturers of India have registered strong protest not only with the IAF, but also with Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

They said the tender was rushed through in the name of urgency and security concerns. Private Indian manufacturers were not given ample opportunity to participate as the RFP was not available on IAF website nor was it made available on government e-marketplace.

They said the ITI Ltd that was awarded the work was also not capable of providing end-to-end solution on its own, and would have to involve other manufacturers.

Given the opportunity, private Indian telecom OEMs could have joined hands to provide the end-to-end solution the IAF needed. They pointed out that the BSNL had come out with a similar tender and the private Indian telecom OEMs had successfully participated in it by acting as system integrator.

Indian OEMs have objected to IAF referring to the job it needed done as network "upgradation & expansion". This, they said, was misleading as the 3G technology is not upgradable or migratable to 4G/5G. They said IAF wanted to set up a new network. This is evident from a clause in the RFP where IAF asks bidders to be ready to buy back its existing equipment.

These and other objections were raised on behalf of Indian OEMs by the Telecom Equipment and Services Export Promotion Council (TEPC), which is a government body, and the Telecom Equipment Manufacturers' Association (TEMA) in letters to IAF and the PM. Seeking Modi's intervention to get the IAF tender redrafted and refloated, TEMA said "3G technology can't be upgraded or migrated to 4GLTE/5G technology that is based on 3GPP standards. This is a technical reality and hence RFP nomenclature of "Upgradation and Expansion" is misrepresentation and obfuscation — an attempt to circumvent government guidelines of PPP-MII (Make in India) to bring in foreign equipment through obfuscation."

Missile Pralay flight test successful

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Defence Research and Development Organisation on Wednesday successfully conducted the maiden flight test of its indigenously developed surface-to-surface missile Pralay, from Dr APJ Abdul Kalam Island off Odisha coast.

The Ministry of Defence in its statement said, "The mission has met all its objectives. The new missile followed the desired quasi ballistic trajectory and reached the designated target with a high degree of accuracy, validating the control, guidance and mission algorithms. All the sub-systems performed satisfactorily."

The missile is powered with solid propellant rocket motor and many new technologies. It has a range of 150-500 kms. It can be launched from a mobile launcher, said the ministry.

All the sensors deployed near the impact point across the eastern coast, including the down range ships, tracked the missile trajectory and captured all events, the defence ministry statement said.

Speaking about the missile, Secretary of Department of Defence R&D and Chairman of DRDO, Dr G Satheesh Reddy said this is a new generation surface-to-surface missile and induction of this weapon system will give the necessary impetus to the armed forces.

DRDO is the research and development wing of the ministry of defence. A missile which follows a ballistic trajectory is called a 'ballistic missile'. It is used to deliver warheads on a predetermined target.

WHERE IS THE MONEY, HONEY?

Poll sops being announced in Uttarakhand without keeping in mind state's fiscal status

VINEET UPADHYAY @ Dehradun

IN the run-up to the 2022 Assembly elections in Uttarakhand, all political parties are promising freebies, welfare schemes and development projects without taking into account the state's fiscal health.

According to the 2019-20 report of Comptroller and Auditor General of India, Uttarakhand has a debt of ₹65,982 crore, a huge jump from ₹39,069 crore in 2015-16.

In a bid to expand his party's footprints nationally, AAP convener Arvind Kejriwal has promise ₹1,000 per month to every woman above the age of 18 years age in Uttarakhand. This will roughly entail an expenditure of ₹4,500 crore per month while AAP's promise of ₹4,000 per month to the jobless youths will require ₹4,800 crore. Similarly, the Congress promise to carve out nine new districts will require money. One district alone will need resources worth ₹1,000 crore, according to various estimates.

Political Pulse

The BJP dispensation, in its bid to retain power, has opened its purse strings with Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami alone making 300-plus announcements. These include the milk price incentive scheme that will cost ₹444 crore and the plan to transfer money to Class 10 and 12 students of government schools for buying tablets. With 1.6 lakh students enlisted, the scheme will cost ₹2,035 crore in the current year. Similarly, the Mukhyamantri Ghasiyari Yojana and various infrastructure projects will require thousands of crores.

So, where will the money come from to continue these schemes and implement new ones? "The voter knows which announcement is just a farce and which can be implemented. The parties must also tell the voters from where they will get the money," said political commentator Anoop Nautiyal.

Fiscal data from the state government indicates its earning is far less than the expenditure. The expense incurred towards salary alone is ₹14,951 crore while ₹6,297 crore is spent on pensions. On the other hand, the government earnings in 2018-19 stood at ₹12,188 crore, which declined to ₹11,513 crore in 2019-2020 and further to ₹10,791 crore in 2020-21.

BK Joshi, a Dehradun-based economist, said, "The fiscal health of the government must be taken into account while announcing such projects. The money needs to be arranged from somewhere. So, the government must minimise debts and increase earnings."

Captain fooled Punjabis in drug case, says Sidhu

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

PUNJAB Congress chief Navjot Singh Sidhu on Wednesday hit out at former chief minister Captain Amarinder Singh stating that the latter "fooled" the people of Punjab by "wrongly" claiming that the high-profile drug case probe report involving Shiromani Akali Dal leader Bikram Singh Majithia was with the Punjab and Haryana High Court in a sealed cover.

Sidhu said, "Amarinder shielded Majithia and befooled the people of Punjab by wrongly saying that the drug probe report was with the high court in a sealed cover. In fact, the court had handed over the report to him and asked him to take action as per the law. From these actions, it is evident that he connived with the NDA government at the Centre as SAD was a part of it then and that he protected Majithia."

He claimed his earlier decision to resign, which he withdrew later, from the post of party president over the appointments of police and judicial officers in the state has now been justified.

Hitting out at AAP supremo Arvind Kejriwal, Sidhu said the former's statement on the drug case that the ED and STF reports against Majithia were a 'political stunt' indicated his connivance with the SAD. "Kejriwal had apologised to Majithia in the defamation case filed by the latter. This has exposed his double standards," he said.

Sidhu also sought investigation into the "deal" between AAP and Akalis, which he claimed, prevented Punjab Roadways buses from plying on the lucrative route from Punjab to the Delhi airport.

Movie dialogue to counter Cong critics

Lucknow: Congress leader Priyanka Gandhi Vadra on Wednesday recalled the iconic dialogue from Bollywood movie 'Deewar' to counter critics that her party had lost base in poll-bound UP. In a Twitter video, a journalist is seen seeking her response to the rival parties' remarks that the Congress had been speaking about women in its rallies as it had no base left in UP. To this, she asks him whether he has heard the dialogue from 'Deewar' in which Amitabh Bachchan and Shashi Kapoor played brothers. "Amitabh tells Shashi Kapoor, 'mere paas gaadi hai, bangla hai, yeh hai, woh hai, toh Shashi Kapoor ne kaha, mere paas maa hai (I have a car, I have a bungalow... so Shashi Kapoor says, I have mother). Toh main keh rahin hun, mere paas behen hai (I have sister)," Priyanka said in a apparent reference to women in Uttar Pradesh. PTI

AAP, TRINAMOOL FIGHT FOR GOA PIE INTENSIFIES

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AS the political atmosphere in poll-bound Goa begins to heat up, the Aam Aadmi Party and Trinamool Congress, both seeking a toehold in the state, are taking potshots at each other. After AAP convenor and Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal on Wednesday said TMC does not stand anywhere in the race in Goa, TMC retorted that the statement "reflects political immaturity and desperation".

"I think you people give a lot of importance to TMC, which doesn't have even a 1% vote share as of now. It came to Goa only three months back. Democracy doesn't work like this. You need to work hard, you need to work among people," Kejriwal said in Goa.

In response, TMC said it is for the people of Goa to decide who should be taken seriously. "We firmly believe in WORKING FOR PEOPLE and STANDING BESIDE THEM through thick & thin. Those indulging in election forecasting & vote share predictions are simply reflecting their political immaturity and desperation. Let the people of Goa decide who should be taken seriously!" the TMC tweeted.

TMC's state spokesperson Kunal Ghosh said Kejriwal's comments were due to the "local compulsion" of Goa politics. Though Kejriwal had publicly called TMC supremo and West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee his "elder sister", the run-up to the Goa election seems to have forced the two parties to criticise each other.

The TMC, which is seeking to make a foray in national politics, has announced that it will contest all seats in the 2022 election in the state. AAP had contested the 2017 Assembly polls and got a 6 per cent vote share.

SP campaign plans likely to be hit as Akhilesh's wife, daughter catch Covid

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE entire poll campaign of the Samajwadi Party has been put in jeopardy as Dimple Yadav, wife of party chief Akhilesh Yadav, and their younger daughter Tina, have tested positive for Covid-19 here on Wednesday.

Akhilesh has been campaigning across UP for the Assembly election which is just a couple of months away. He is likely to get himself tested for the coronavirus. The development may now cast shadow on the joint rally which Akhilesh had to address with Rashtriya Lok Dal leader Jayant Chaudhary in Aligarh on Thursday.

Akhikesh has been spearheading a robust poll campaign of his party by taking out Vijay Rath Yatra across the state. At present, he is leading the 8th leg of the yatra from Mainpuri to Etah on his Vijay Rath, which has been carved out of a Mercedes Benz bus.

In a tweet, Dimple Yadav, former MP from Kannauj, said she was fully vaccinated, but in self-isolation. "I got a Covid test done, the report of which is positive. I am fully vaccinated and not showing any symptoms. For the safety of myself and others, I have isolated myself," tweeted Dimple asking all those who might have come in her contact to get themselves tested.

However, it is not known if the SP chief has got himself vaccinated or not. Initially, when the vaccination drive had commenced, he had rejected the Covid-19 vaccine calling it "BJP's vaccine".

Independents, BJP biggest losers of deposits

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

In the just concluded Kolkata Municipal Corporation polls, independents and BJP candidates suffered the most by way of forfeiture of deposit amount. While the saffron camp topped the list of parties whose candidates lost their deposit, Congress came next in the list. The Left Front's performance was better in terms of securing the deposit compared to the two national parties.

The deposit of BJP's 116 candidates was forfeited. The party had fielded candidates in 142 out of 144 wards.

Deposit is forfeited if a candidate fails to bag one sixth of the polled votes.

"It is a fact, it was a poor show of our party in the civic polls. In 2010 when our party had no MLA in the state, we bagged three out of 144 wards in Kolkata municipal election. This time with a contingent of 70 MLAs and 17 MPs, the party failed to bag more than three seats in the civic body. In the previous civic poll in Kolkata in 2015, out party performed better by wining in seven wards," said a BJP leader.

The election commission receives a deposit of ₹500 each for general category candidates while the sum is ₹250 for women candidates and SC candidates in the civic polls.

Political observers in the state capital felt the increase in CPI(M)'s vote share was responsible for the saffron camp's unimpressive performance.

"BJP's rise in Bengal in the previous two elections was a contribution of erosion in LF's vote bank. The BJP bled badly in Kolkata civic polls because the LF got back a section of its earlier vote share," said political science professor Dr Bishnupriya Dutta Gupta.

Congress stages strong show in Raj civic elections

Jaipur: The ruling Congress has put up a strong show in Panchayat elections held in four districts of Rajasthan, while the BJP faced a crushing defeat in Sri Ganganagar bordering Punjab due to the impact of the farmers' agitation. The Congress and BJP won two Zila Parishads each, but the grand old party fared far better in Panchayat Samitis, winning in 14 out of the total 30 in the four districts, while the BJP got a majority in eight. The saffron party captured the Kota and Baran district councils, while the Congress won Sri Ganganagar and Karauli districts. In the eight Panchayat Samitis where neither Congress nor BJP got a clear majority, independents will play a key role. ENS

Chinese phone firms face I-T raids

Searches carried out at premises linked to smartphone cos such as Oppo, Xiaomi, OnePlus

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

INCOME Tax officials conducted search operations at over a dozen premises of Chinese smartphone companies and their contract manufactures. Major players such as Oppo, Xiaomi, and OnePlus are being covered in the searches, which according to a senior official, may be involved in concealing their profits to avoid taxes.

According to an executive of a smart-phone company, the search began on Monday morning in which they were asked to submit their smartphones and personal computers for inspection. Official said that they are analysing the data to check for any wrongdoings. The raids were primarily conducted in offices located in and around Delhi NCR and Bengaluru.

Meanwhile, Oppo, in a statement said, "As an invested partner in India, we highly respect and abide by the law of the land. We will continue to fully cooperate with authorities concerned as per procedure."

Queries sent to Xiaomi and OnePlus were not answered.

This is not the first time when authorities are conducting search operations at premises of Chinese tech firms. Telecom vendor ZTE was searched rigorously by IT officials while Enforcement Directorate (ED) recently penalised distributing partners of a leading phone maker. In the last two years, the relationship between India and China has been anything but steady. Not only India banned over 100 apps, including PUBG and TikTok, which had its origin in China, it continues to discourage China's participation in many sectors. Despite this, Chinese companies Xiaomi, Realme, Vivo and Oppo control over 60% of Indian smartphone market.

WE WILL SEE THE PRIVATE SECTOR DRIVING GROWTH: RAJIV KUMAR

EXPRESS expressions — FEAR NONE. FAVOUR NONE

Meghnad Desai

Rajiv Kumar

Rajiv Kumar, Vice-chairman Niti Aayog and Meghnad Desai, economist and British politician, were in conversation with The New Indian Express' Editorial Director Prabhu Chawla and Senior Journalist Kaveree Bamzai during TNIE's E-Expressions series

India is set to grow at over 8% and the growth will be driven by the private sector forward, Niti Aayog Vice-Chairman Rajiv Kumar said on Wednesday.

"I sincerely believe this that we are now in the cusp of a major change. With all transformation that has been done in the last seven years in terms of foundational structural difficult reforms, I think we have now put a framework in place where we will see the private sector driving growth and being in the driver's seat going forward," Rajiv Kumar said.

Rajiv Kumar and economist Meghnad Desai was in a discussion with Prabhu Chalwa, Editorial Director, The New Indian Express, and Senior Journalist Kaveree Bamzai on economy, as part of the discussion series "The platinum pride: India at 75".

Expressing confidence over the economic growth of the country, which he feels will grow at over 8%, Kumar said that not only India will remain fastest growing economy but the growth will be sustainable and inclusive.

"I'm confident of that this growth rate will be sustained because enough measures have been taken to ensure that when growth happens it also goes down to the bottom of the pyramid and that people don't get left out of it. So with reforms like Jan Dhan account, direct benefit scheme, we will make sure that this growth is more inclusive than in the past," Kumar said.

According to Meghnad Desai, going by the current scenario, even the sustained economic growth that is at 5% will be good.

"I have seen big promises in India and the people are very patient they tolerate failures. But I think what is needed is a sustained growth and even at 5% would be good. India has to exploit the outside world to help its growth, but it also has to have this partnership between the public sector and the private sector, and so I think at some stage the state will have to shrink slightly because its bureaucracy is very big and extremely expensive," Desai said.

Commenting on the role of private sector in driving India's growth, Meghnad Desai said that much will depend on how much the government trusts the private sector.

"I'm very glad that at last there is a government in power which will trust the private sector. There is no political party in India, which openly says private sector in the heart of the economy, or private sector will take us forward.

"It is always the government which will tell the private sector what to do. So if there is a genuine change in political attitude about the private sector, I think that's very welcome," Desai said.

Zee board approves merger deal with Sony Pictures

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE board of Zee Entertainment Enterprises Limited (ZEEL) on Wednesday approved its merger with Sony Pictures Networks India (SPNI) to create India's largest entertainment network with 75 channels, which will control over 1/4th of total viewership market. The approval came even as current promoters of Zee are in loggerhead with the US-based Invesco, the media company's largest shareholder.

Now the deal needs other necessary statutory and regulatory approvals of the shareholders/ the creditors of the company and other parties. According to analysts, getting the required 3/4th approval of shareholders remains a big challenge for Zee as Invesco, which owns 17.88% in the company, has never approved of the merger and has been seeking removal of MD and CEO Punit Goenka. Add to it, Zee's founders have just a 3.99% stake.

Punit Goenka will continue to head the merged entity

Analysts/brokerages have welcomed the approval and said it was a positive development for shareholders.

"Minority shareholders should be supportive as the merger creates a subsidiary of an MNC with global practices, and makes the entity a market leader with re-rated governance practices," says Shriram Subramanian, MD of proxy advisory firm Ingovern.

Sony will hold a majority stake of 50.86% in the merged entity while the promoters of Zee gets 3.99% and the other shareholders would have the remaining 45.15% stake. Goenka will continue to head the merged entity but majority of the board of directors will be nominated by the Sony Group and will include the current SPNI Managing Director and CEO, NP Singh.

Queries sent to Invesco seeking their views remained unanswered till the filing of the report.

Omicron may pose fresh challenges: RBI panel

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

RESERVE Bank of India (RBI) Governor Shaktikanta Das said that even when the Indian economy is recovering from the pandemic, it is still facing several headwinds from global factors and the monetary policy committee agreed that the fresh threat of Omicron may pose new challenges for the economy, said the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) minutes released by the central bank on Wednesday.

"The Indian economy is facing several headwinds emanating from global factors - some old ones getting prolonged compared with the initial assessment, coupled with new ones. The supply disruptions and other bottlenecks which were earlier anticipated to resolve by end of this year have gained additional shelf life stretching into 2022," said Das during the December 6-8 meeting.

Apart from the global challenges, MPC added that on domestic front two area of concern is sluggish private consumption and private sector capital expenditure.

"The level of GDP in Q2FY22 is barely at the so-called pre-pandemic level of Q2:2019-20, which itself grew at the slowest pace in 6 years preceding it. Consumption spending is held back by households hesitant to incur discretionary expenditure. Private investment remains timid and is yet to participate in the recovery. Contact-intensive services are still convalescing from the wounds of the pandemic," MPC member and RBI Deputy Governor Michael Debabrata Patra said, adding with the new Covid variant, the global outlook has darkened.

All MPC members, -- Shashanka Bhide, Ashima Goyal, Mridul K. Saggar, Michael Debabrata Patra and Shaktikanta Das -- voted to continue with the accommodative stance, except Jayanth R Varma, who voted against it.

Amazon seeks to buy Cataraman's stake in its JV with Infy founder

Amazon in HC for clarification on ED's probe

Amazon on Wednesday filed a writ petition in the Delhi High Court challenging the Enforcement Directorate's (ED) investigations into alleged foreign exchange violations by the company, ahead of its 2019 deal to acquire a 49% stake in Future Coupons, sources said. Amazon has challenged the ED investigation citing that it 'pertains to transactions that have no foreign exchange element. "In its filing, Amazon said that the ED is expanding the scope of its investigations by seeking privileged and confidential legal advice it received in ordinary course of business since it started marketplace operations and that such requests aren't related to the probe agency's investigation into the Future-Amazon deal.

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

AMAZON on Wednesday announced that it will acquire Prione Business Services, the joint venture between Infosys founder Narayan Murthy-led Catamaran and Amazon, subject to regulatory approvals.

Amazon will hold a 100% stake in Prione post the acquisition.

The e-commerce major has approached the Indian anti-trust body Competition Commission of India (CCI), seeking its approval for the acquisition, just months after Catamaran and Amazon mutually decided to end their joint venture (JV) in August this year.

Amazon and Cataraman in a joint statement on Wednesday said, "The businesses of the joint venture shall continue under the leadership of the current management and on receipt of regulatory approvals, the board of Prione & Cloudtail will take steps to complete the transaction in compliance with applicable laws."

The decision to end the JV came a few hours after a Supreme Court decision that allowed CCI India to continue its probe against Amazon as well as rival Flipkart for alleged preference shown to select sellers.

Prione is the wholly-owned subsidiary of Cloudtail, which is one of the largest sellers on Amazon India's marketplace.

Notably in 2018, the government had introduced stricter Indian foreign direct investment (FDI) norms mandating any foreign-owned e-commerce entity do not sell products of their group companies on their platforms.

Following the amendments, Catamaran Venture raised its stake in Prione Business Services from 51% to 76% while Amazon reduced its shareholdings to 24%.

Tepid debut for Jhunjhunwala-backed Metro Brands; lists at 13% discount

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Mumbai

BIG bull Rakesh Jhunjhunwala-backed Metro Brands listed at an almost 13% discount to its issue price of ₹500 on Wednesday.

One of India's largest footwear retailers, the company aimed to raise ₹1,367.5 crore from the Street to open new stores and for general corporate purposes. Of the total proceeds, ₹295 crore is a fresh issue while ₹1,072.51 crore is an offer for sale from the promoters and other shareholders, which means it won't flow into the company's coffers.

The stock listed on the NSE at ₹437 apiece and ₹436 on BSE, before closing at ₹502 on the former.

The tepid debut was ascribed to the company trading at a high valuation of 86 times 12 month trailing PE and possibility of lockdown due to the Omicron by Amarjeet Maurya, AVP, Angel One. However, Maurya is positive on the stock for the long term on the back of the company's asset light business, strong brands and wide range of footwear.

Some of its well-known brands include Mochi, Walkway, Da Vinchi, and J. Fontini, as well as third-party brands Crocs, Skechers, Clarks, Florsheim, and Fitflop.

Meanwhile, Bharat FIH, a Foxconn Technology Group company, filed papers with Sebi to raise ₹5,000 crore.

Cognizant to call employees back to office from Apr 2022

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

US-HEADQUARTERED IT company Cognizant Technology Solutions, which employs over 2 lakh people in India, is planning to call its employees back to the office in April 2022.

In an email sent to employees, Cognizant CEO Brian Humphries said, "Given the uncertain path of the Omicron variant and the ebb and flow of outbreaks of new Covid cases globally, we will begin to return to the office in April 2022. Until then, travel and office-based work will remain restricted." The company will adopt a hybrid work model.

"Our new standard workweek will consist of three days in the office and two from wherever you work best. Based on client needs and other business requirements, some roles may need to be in the office either more or fewer days than the standard," he told employees.

Cognizant plans to move 'carefully' and 'gradually' to the hybrid work model, and will ask associates who normally work from a Cognizant facility to return to the office one day a week, beginning in April. During the second half of 2022, the company will build its way up to fully implementing its new RTO model.

"Returning to an in-office environment even one day a week will be a significant change for most of us. RTO encompasses more than travelling to a location... For example, a hybrid work model means that a significant number of associates will shift from a dedicated workspace to a more flexible, collaborative space, therefore we will adjust our real estate footprint appropriately," Humphries said.

Mindtree looks for acquisitions in strategic areas to access new markets

Digital transformation

Talking about digital transformation, Lambu said that there is growing appetite and urgency among organisations across industry sectors to tap into digital and cloud technologies. "This trend is fuelling continuous innovation in business models, processes, operations, products and services, with a focus on not just optimising costs, but maximising revenue, operational excellence, and business resilience," he said.

GLOBAL technology services and digital transformation company Mindtree is looking for acquisitions that will complement or augment its capabilities in strategic focus areas and also provide access to new markets.

In May this year, Mindtree strengthened its IoT, AI and Industry 4.0 capabilities with the acquisition of NxT Digital Business from Larsen and Toubro (L&T) for ₹198 crore.

"This acquisition aligns with our vision to be the go-to digital transformation partner to our clients. We are excited about the opportunities that we have been able to unlock with Mindtree NxT's capabilities, which helped us win transformation deals last quarter at leading multinational manufacturers of consumer goods, industrial products, and building materials in the US, Europe and Asia-Pacific, as well as an automotive major," Venu Lambu, Executive Director and President, Global Markets, Mindtree, told The New Indian Express.

He added that focused M&As are an important part of the company's growth strategy.

'Ganguly shouldn't have spoken on captaincy issue'

Former India captain and chairman of selectors Dilip Vengsarkar feels that board president Sourav Ganguly wasn't right in airing his views on behalf of national selectors Virat Kohli's captaincy saga. "The thing is that Ganguly had no business to speak on behalf of the selection committee. He is the BCCI president," Vengsarkar said.

BRONZE AGE CONTINUES

Manpreet & Co rally to beat Pakistan to finish season with another third-place finish

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

IN the end, it came down to keeping a sense of calm when some of the others were intent on not doing. Down to nine men for the last four minutes of the third-place match between India and Pakistan at the Asian Champions Trophy, Akashdeep Singh, one of the most experienced players in this side, cutely finished from close range to open up a 4-2 gap. Pakistan did halve the deficit but eventually ran out of time as the final hooter cut through the winter Dhaka air.

The India-Pakistan rivalry in hockey exists only in name. Even though the latter have won more clashes overall, the former's recent superiority has threatened to make this a no contest. Barring the 2-2 draw at the Commonwealth Games in Gold Coast, India have tended to wipe the floor against the Green Shirts. In other words, they had the wood over them. That trend continued in the group stages, with India beating them 3-1 on Friday.

Two minutes into the third-place encounter on Wednesday, that pattern threatened to play itself out again. Manpreet Singh & Co. had a raft of penalty corners and Harmanpreet Singh sounded the board to put India in front. What followed next, though, was off the script. Pakistan grew into contest and scored two field goals to take the lead. In isolation, it was a big moment because Pakistan had seldom led India.

Soon, the nerves started jangling from an Indian perspective. It was, one sensed, not what they expected. But to be fair to them, they didn't lose shape and knew chances would come. Led by the inspirational Manpreet, who ran the show from midfield, the World No 5 equalised on the stroke of the fourth quarter.

Varun Kumar, the team's other penalty corner specialist, scored from a set-piece variation to give them the lead. Pakistan immediately went down the other end to engineer a few short corners but their Achilles Heel — scoring from such opportunities — came back to bite them. Even though India went down to nine, they engineered a breakaway to put the match beyond doubt to maintain their iron-like grip in these encounters to sign off for the year with a second third-place medal.

Keeping in mind the bigger picture, coach Graham Reid will not lose too much sleep about the semifinal loss to Japan. For all intents and purposes, this was an experimental side, with quite a few players asked to show what they can do.

Now they will go on a short break before regrouping at the Sports Authority of India's campus in Bengaluru in the first week of January.

South Korea win title

In the final, South Korea recovered from a seemingly hopeless situation to win the title. They were trailing 1-3 with five minutes to go before a Jang Jonghyun brace took the final to a shootout. There South Korea held their nerve to win 4-2. This was the men's biggest title since winning the Asia Cup in 2013.

Topper Aakarshi's focus on building strength

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

SOMEONE who prefers to keep to herself, a badminton court is where Aakarshi Kashyap likes to express herself and do the talking. That's been the case ever since she picked up the sport at the age of eight. On Wednesday, she was in her zone during the women's singles final of the BAI series senior meet, outsmarting her opponent Tanya Hemanth 21-15, 21-12 in the final, preserving her reputation as one of the titans in the domestic circuit.

Having dominated the domestic circuit for a few years now, Aakarshi's intent is to rub shoulders with the top guns at the elite level on a frequent basis. Having observed them work the magic closely, the 20-year-old from Chhattisgarh said she has been looking to elevate her mental aspect of the game. "I need to keep more focus during crucial stages of the game. If I'm able to do that, I'll definitely start getting more wins at the international level. In Bangladesh (International Challenge), I lost in the final game (quarterfinals). My opponent went on to finish as runners-up in the event. It's just a few things I need to focus on, mostly on attacking skills and mental side of the game," the 20-year-old noted.

She's determined to become more robust as the shuttlers tend to have a busy calendar. "Possessing strength is vital. After playing a long match, we are unable to play the next day sometimes. If we could improve on our strengths, we'll be able to play at a consistent pace, play a series of events in a row and get the desired results."

Only ten weights for Paris Olympics

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

The International Weightlifting Federation has decided on 10 weight categories at the Paris Olympics, four less than what they had in Tokyo 2020 this year. According to reports, the decision has the support of the Athletes' Commission and is set to be adopted.

The International Olympi Committee recently said that weightlifting and boxing are not in the priority sports list for 2028 Olympics. The IOC warned that if they mend ways, they may figure in 2028 Olympics. Because of high doping incidents and a tarnished image, weightlifting has been trying to make an image makeover. The sport has seen an incredible reduction in number of athletes participation over the last two Olympics. From 260 participants in Rio Games to 196 in Tokyo 2020 and a further cut to 120 in Paris show how much the sport has lost way because of administration and doping.

For India, however, there's nothing much to worry because participation in Olympics is not very high. Tokyo 2020 silver medallist Mirabai Chanu's 49kg will not get affected but going by the weight categories of our top lifters, Jeremy Lalrinnunga's 67kg will not be there but Weightlifting Federation of India is not worried. They believe there is enough time for lifters to make adjustments. According to reports, weight categories for Paris 2024 would be five each in men and women's category and the weights would be 61kg, 73kg, 89kg, 102kg and +102kg for men while for women it will be 49kg, 59kg, 71kg, 81kg and +81kg. India's chief national coach Vijay Sharma said there is enough time for India to make adjustments.

Services beat Kerala, enter semifinals

MARTIN JOSEPH @ Kochi

KERALA'S campaign in the Vijay Hazare Trophy came to an end after they lost to Services in the quarterfinal at the KL Saini Stadium in Jaipur on Wednesday.

A clinical bowling performance from Services restricted Kerala to 175 in 40.4 overs before they chased down the target in 30.5 overs.

After winning the toss, Services put Kerala to bat first. Even though opener Rohan Kunnummal stood tall and kept the scoreboard ticking, wickets kept tumbling at the other end which didn't help their cause. His opening partner, Mohammed Azharuddeen, departed cheaply after making just seven while Jalaj Saxena who was promoted up the order departed for a duck.

Brief scores: Kerala 175 in 40.4 ovs (Rohan S Kunnummal 85, Vinoop Manoharan 41, Pathania 3/19) lost to Services 176/3 in 30.5 ovs (Ravi Chauhan 95, Rajat Paliwal 65 n.o); Vidarbha 150 in 40.3 ovs (Apoorv Wankhede 72) lost to Saurashtra 151/3 in 29.5 ovs (P Mankad 77).
Semifinals: (May 24) Tamil Nadu vs Saurashtra, Himachal Pradesh vs Services

This left Kerala reeling at 24/2 before Rohan combined with Vinoop Manoharan to forge an 81-run partnership. After Vinoop's departure, Kerala kept losing wickets at regular intervals. The seasoned campaigners like Sachin Baby (12), Sanju Samson (2) all departed cheaply as Kerala was bundled out cheaply. The likes of Vishnu Vinod and Sijomon Joseph, who played vital contributions lower down the order in many group matches to help them reach the knockout stage, also failed to make an impact.

Rohan was the top scorer for Kerala with a 106-ball-85. Diwesh Pathania picked up three wickets while Pulkit Narang and Abhishek got two apiece for Services. Tinu Yohannan's side found it hard to defend the total as Services chased it down in 30.5 overs with seven wickets. The chase was led by Services opener Ravi Chauhan. After Services lost two quick wickets, Ravi combined with Rajat Paliwal to forge a 154-run partnership that took the game away from Kerala.

In the other quarterfinal, Saurashtra secured a seven-wicket win over Vidarbha. After restricting Vidarbha to a paltry 150, Saurashtra cruised to victory in 29.5 overs.

S Africa Omicron peak over?

Epidemiologists closely watching the country that is at forefront of Omicron outbreak to understand how variant will behave elsewhere

HEALTH

JOHANNESBURG: South Africa's noticeable drop in new Covid-19 cases in recent days may signal that the country's dramatic Omicron-driven surge has passed its peak, medical experts say.

Daily virus case counts are notoriously unreliable, as they can be affected by uneven testing, reporting delays and other fluctuations. But they are offering one tantalizing hint that Omicron infections may recede quickly after a ferocious spike.

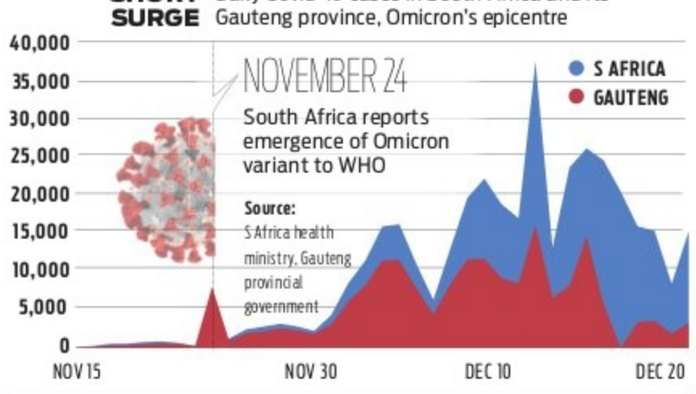
South Africa has been at the forefront of the Omicron wave and the world is watching for any signs of how it may play out there to try to understand what may be in store.

After hitting a high of nearly 27,000 new cases nationwide on Thursday, the numbers dropped to about 15,424 on Tuesday. In Gauteng province — South Africa's most populous with 16 million people, including the largest city, Johannesburg, and the capital, Pretoria — the decrease started earlier and has continued.

"The drop in new cases nationally combined with the sustained drop in new cases seen here in Gauteng, which for weeks has been the center of this wave, indicates that we are past the peak," Marta Nunes, senior researcher at the Vaccines and Infectious Diseases Analytics department of the University of Witwatersrand, told The Associated Press.

"It was a short wave ... and the good news is that it was not very severe in terms of hospitalizations and deaths," she said. It is "not unexpected in epidemiology that a very steep increase, like what we saw in November, is followed by a steep decrease."

SHORT SURGE Daily Covid-19 cases in South Africa and its Gauteng province, Omicron's epicentre



Significant decline

Gauteng province saw its numbers start sharply rising in mid-November. Scientists doing genetic sequencing quickly identified the new, highly mutated Omicron variant.

South Africa's positivity rate has remained high at 29%, up from just 2% in early November, indicating the virus is still circulating among the population at relatively high levels, Nunes said.

Experts worried that the sheer volume of new infections would overwhelm the country's hospitals, even though Omicron appears to cause milder disease, with significantly less hospitalizations, patients needing oxygen and deaths.

But then cases in Gauteng started falling. After reaching 16,000 new infections on Dec. 12, the province's numbers have steadily dropped, to just over 3,300 cases Tuesday.

"It's significant. It's very significant," Dr. Fareed Abdullah said of the decrease.

"The rapid rise of new cases has been followed by a rapid fall," said Abdullah.

Israelis over 60, medics to get 4th vax jab

HEALTH

ISRAELI PM Naftali Bennett said Israelis over the age of 60 and medical teams will be eligible for a fouth Covid vaccination, following the recommendation of an expert panel.

The decision came as the state was struggling to contain the spread of the Omicron variant, imposing travel and other restrictions while avoiding a domestic lockdown.

"I gave an order to prepare immediately for a fourth vaccination," Bennett said on Twitter, with a spokesperson saying Israel would be the world's first country to administer the fourth shot. "(It) will assist us in getting through the Omicron wave that is engulfing the world," Bennett said.

KOMODO NATIONAL PARK

2,200 km² of land and marine area

1980 year it was established

3,000 Komodo dragons live in the park, along with manatee-like dugongs, sea turtles, whales and more than a thousand species of tropical fish

'10 NEW BALIS'

The name of the new nation-wide initiative that the government is using to draw more tourists, as the island of Bali did before border restrictions during the Covid-19 pandemic. Komodo National Park is part of "10 New Balis"

WHAT'S ON THE CARDS

The multimillion dollar tourism development, aimed at dramatically increasing visitors to the park, includes building an expanded ranger station, viewing platform, boat dock, toilets and other infrastructure

EXFILE • CONSERVATION

Nature tourism could actually end up harming the world's largest lizards

It's one of the crown jewels for tourism in the world's fourth most populous nation. Komodo National Park got a UNESCO World Heritage Site tag back in 1991 for its biodiversity and beauty, and draws lakhs of visitors globally every year. The Indonesian government is trying to capitalise on the popularity, calling its push a nature tourism initiative. But experts say this commercialisation camouflaged as sustainability is not the way forward for the unique wildlife-rich park, as it could irreparably harm the habitat of the endangered Komodo dragon

1/3 The development could reduce the park's wilderness zone to one-third the previous area, in addition to tourism concessions within the property

5 lakh ANNUAL VISITORS The target set by the government's new initiative, more than double the pre-pandemic visitor count, according a UNESCO report

This (the tourism numbers target) raises the question of how this tourism model fits (Indonesia's) vision of moving away from mass tourism to more sustainable approaches UNESCO

MORE VISITORS GOOD OR BAD? It's not just a matter of more people disturbing the famed dragons. Tourism projects could escalate the need for freshwater in the area, upsetting the very delicate ecological balance of the islands

2020 In October 2020, UNESCO requested that Indonesia not "proceed with any tourism infrastructure project that may affect the Outstanding Universal Value of the property prior to a review of the relevant environmental impact assessment" by the International Union for Conservation of Nature

CONSTRUCTION CONTINUES Though the project construction site has been closed to the public for months, satellite images obtained by the Associated Press shows construction continued after UNESCO requested the project be paused

When we talk about the development in the conservation area, we have to think ... whether this is a wisely considered economic effect for the local people — or the environmental effect. The situation now is like collective suicide. We think that this kind of business will eventually kill others' businesses and even themselves because they destroyed the environment

Gregorius Afioma, a member of the local NGO Sun Spirit for Justice and Peace, added that local residents also fear they won't get construction jobs for the luxury tourist destination the Indonesian government is promoting

ENDANGERED The predatory lizards were recently moved from "vulnerable" to "endangered" status on the IUCN list of threatened species, due to climate change and human encroachment

FACT OF THE MATTER

UK buys 4 mn drug doses

MEDICINE

The UK government announced Wednesday it is buying millions of doses of new Covid treatment pills as the Omicron variant takes hold, while cutting the isolation period for positive cases. The government said it has signed deals to buy 4.25 million courses of two new antiviral drugs: Pfizer's ritonavir and US rival Merck/MSD's molnupiravir, which will be available early next year. This comes on top of government announcements in October of the procurement of several hundreds of thousands of doses, and was hailed as a "mammoth deal" by Health Secretary Sajid Javid. Molnupiravir, sold as Lagevrio, is being used in a national trial run by the University of Oxford that people can join.

Perfectly preserved dino embryo found

PALAEONTOLOGY

SCIENTISTS have announced the discovery of an exquisitely preserved dinosaur embryo from 66 million years ago that was preparing to hatch from its egg just like a chicken.

The fossil was discovered in Ganzhou, southern China and belonged to a toothless theropod dinosaur, or oviraptorosaur, which the researchers dubbed "Baby Yingliang."

"It is one of the best dinosaur embryos ever found in history," researcher Fion Waisum Ma, who co-authored a paper in iScience, said.

Ma and colleagues found Baby Yingliang's head lay below its body, with the feet on either side and back curled -- a posture that was previously unseen in dinosaurs, but similar to modern birds.

In birds, the behavior is controlled by the central nervous system and called "tucking." Chicks preparing to hatch tuck their head under their right wing in order to stabilize the head while they crack the shell with their beak.

Embryos that fail to tuck have a higher chance of death from an unsuccessful hatching. "This indicates that such behavior in modern birds first evolved and originated among their dinosaur ancestors," said Ma. An alternative to tucking might have been something closer to what is seen in modern crocodiles, which instead assume a sitting posture with the head bending upon the chest up to hatching.

CAN'T BOOST YOUR WAY OUT OF PANDEMIC: WHO

HEALTH

GENEVA: The World Health Organization chief warned Wednesday that the rush in wealthy countries to roll out additional Covid vaccine doses was deepening the inequity in access to jabs that is prolonging the pandemic.

The UN health agency has long warned that the glaring inequity in access to Covid vaccines, which has left many vulnerable people in poorer nations without a single jab as richer countries roll out broad booster programmes.

"Blanket booster programmes are likely to prolong the COVID-19 pandemic, rather than ending it, by diverting supply to countries that already have high levels of vaccination coverage, giving the virus more opportunity to spread and mutate," WHO chief Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said. "No country can boost its way out of the pandemic."

His comments came amid the Omicron variant's lightning dash around the globe.

'GOOD SHEPHERD' GOLD RING

ARCHAEOLOGY

Israeli researchers on Wednesday displayed a Roman-era golden ring with an early Christian symbol for Jesus inscribed in its gemstone, found in a shipwreck off the ancient port of Caesarea. The thick octagonal gold ring with its green gemstone bore the figure of the "Good Shepherd" in the form of a young shepherd boy in a tunic with a ram or sheep across his shoulders. The ring was found among a trove of third-century Roman coins, as well as a bronze eagle figurine, bells to ward off evil spirits, pottery, and a Roman pantomimus figurine in a comic mask. Caesarea was the local capital of the Roman empire in the third century.

Swedish company offers a Covid pass that gets under the skin

TECHNOLOGY

STOCKHOLM: Dystopian nightmare or a simple convenience? A Swedish company implanting microchips under the skin has is promoting its devices for use as a Covid-19 health pass in a country with thousands of early adopters.

"I think it's very much part of my own integrity to have myself chipped and keep my personal data there with me, I actually feel that it's even more controlled on my end," Amanda Back, a Stockholm resident who has implanted the subcutaneous chip developed by DSruptive Subdermals, told AFP.

Though still rare, several thousand Swedes have opted to have an electronic implant inserted under the skin in recent years, eliminating the need to remember key fobs, business cards, public transport cards, and recently: vaccine passes.

The country is a stronghold of so-called biohackers who are convinced that humans will become evermore entangled with technology.

"I have a chip implant in my arm and I have programmed the chip so that I have my Covid passport on the chip and the reason is that I always want to have it accessible,.." said Hannes Sjoblad, managing director of DSruptive Subdermals.

70 missing after landslide hits jade mine in Myanmar

One confirmed killed; rescuers search lake to locate missing miners

YANGON

A landslide at a remote jade mine in northern Myanmar's Kachin state killed one person and left at least 70 missing on Wednesday and a search and rescue operation was underway, rescue officials said.

Reports were scant from the area in Hpakant, which is the center of the world's biggest and most lucrative jade mining industry. It's a region where sporadic fighting has broken out between the Myanmar army and ethnic guerrilla forces.

Gayunar Rescue Team official Nyo Chaw, who was coordinating the effort, said more than 70 miners who were digging for jade were swept into a lake a couple of hours before dawn when the landslide hit. Earth and waste from several mines around Lonekhin village slid 60 meters (about 200 feet) down a cliff and struck the miners, he said.

At least five young women and three small shops were also buried in Wednesday's landslide. The body of a jade worker was unearthed from heavy mud by midday, Nyo Chaw said.

"About 150 rescue workers and firefighters are searching for the area and we have found the body of a jade miner so far and keep finding others," Nyo Chaw told the Associated Press.

Rescue workers at the site of Wednesday's landslide in Hpakant in the Kachin State in northern Myanmar | AP

Hpakant is a mountainous and remote area in Kachin state, 950 kilometers north of Myanmar's biggest city, Yangon. A ceasefire in the region has been disrupted since a February 1 coup ousted Aung San Suu Kyi and her elected government. It has some of world's richest jade deposits, making the industry a hotbed for corruption.

The military has said it shut down jade mining in Hpakant, but some companies have been operating illegally. The mines are also a main source of revenue for the Kachin ethnic armed group-Kachin Independence Army based in Kachin state.

According to an official of a civil society group in Hpakant, who asked not to be named fearing his safety, between 20 and 50 mining companies have been operating illegal mines.

Safety has long been a concern, and the suspension of licensing in recent years has sparred a rush of artisanal mining under even worse conditions.

On July 3, 2020, at least 162 people died in a landslide in the same area, while a November 2015 accident left 113 dead. AP

US prof found guilty of hiding China ties

NEW YORK

A Harvard University professor charged with hiding his ties to a Chinese-run recruitment programme was found guilty on all counts Tuesday.

Charles Lieber, 62, the former chair of Harvard's department of chemistry and chemical biology, had pleaded not guilty to two counts of filing false tax returns, two counts of making false statements, and two counts of failing to file reports for a foreign bank account in China.

Charles Lieber

Lieber's defence attorney Marc Mukasey had argued that prosecutors lacked proof of the charges. He maintained that investigators didn't keep any record of their interviews with Lieber prior to his arrest.

Prosecutors argued that Lieber, who was arrested in January, knowingly hid his involvement in China's Thousand Talents Plan ' a programme designed to recruit people with knowledge of foreign technology and intellectual property to China to protect his career and reputation.

Lieber denied his involvement during inquiries from US authorities, prosecutors said.

Lieber also concealed his income from the Chinese program, including $50,000 a month from the Wuhan University of Technology, up to $158,000 in living expenses and more than $1.5 million in grants, according to prosecutors.

In exchange, they say, Lieber agreed to publish articles, organise international conferences and apply for patents on behalf of the Chinese university.

The case is among the highest profile to come from the US Department of Justice's so-called "China Initiative."

The effort launched in 2018 to curb economic espionage from China has faced criticism that it harms academic research and amounts to racial profiling of Chinese researchers. AFP

Beijing blacklists 4 American officials over Xinjiang row

BEIJING

China blacklisted four members of a US federal commission on religious freedom on Tuesday in the latest tit-for-tat response to Washington's own sanctions targeting alleged perpetrators of genocide in Xinjiang.

The plight of China's Muslim minority Uyghurs living in Xinjiang has contributed to worsening diplomatic relations between Western powers and Beijing, which denies any abuses. Washington has slapped sanctions on a growing list of Chinese politicians and companies as well as a diplomatic boycott of the upcoming Winter Olympics, sparking fury in Beijing and reciprocal measures.

Nury Turkel, one of the four US officials targeted

On Tuesday, China announced the latest targets — four members of the United States Commission on International Religious Freedom (USCIRF).

Beijing's Foreign Ministry named chairwoman Nadine Maenza, vice chairman Nury Turkel, as well as commissioners Anurima Bhargava and James W Carr as newly sanctioned. "These countermeasures include the prohibition of the above-mentioned persons from entering China and the freezing of their assets in Mainland China, Hong Kong and Macao," spokesman Zhao Lijian told reporters.

"Chinese citizens and institutions are also prohibited from dealing with these people." AFP

Fraudsters steal $100 billion from US Covid relief programme

WASHINGTON

NEARLY $100 billion at minimum has been stolen from Covid-19 relief programmes set up to help businesses and people who lost their jobs due to the pandemic, the US Secret Service said on Tuesday.

The estimate is based on Secret Service cases and data from the Labor Department and the Small Business Administration, said Roy Dotson, the agency's national pandemic fraud recovery coordinator, in an interview.

The Secret Service didn't include Covid-19 fraud cases prosecuted by the Justice Department. While roughly 3% of the $3.4 trillion dispersed, the amount stolen from pandemic benefits programmes shows "the sheer size of the pot is enticing to the criminals," Dotson said.

Most of that figure comes from unemployment fraud.

The Labor Department reported about $87 billion in unemployment benefits could have been paid improperly, with a significant portion attributable to fraud.

The Secret Service said it has seized more than $1.2 billion while investigating unemployment insurance and loan fraud and has returned more than $2.3 billion of fraudulently obtained funds by working with financial partners and states to reverse transactions.

The Secret Service says it has over 900 active criminal investigations into pandemic fraud.

The Justice Department said last week that its fraud section had prosecuted over 150 defendants in more than 95 criminal cases and had seized over $75 million in cash proceeds derived from fraudulently obtained Paycheck Protection Programme funds, as well as numerous real estate properties and luxury items purchased with the proceeds.

One of the best-known programmes created through the March 2020 CARES Act, PPP offered low-interest, forgivable loans to small businesses struggling to meet payroll and other expenses during pandemic-related shutdowns.

Fake passport: US diplomat nabbed

ISTANBUL

TURKISH police have arrested and jailed a US diplomat working for Washington's consulate in Beirut on suspicion of issuing a fake passport to a Syrian national, Turkish media reported on Wednesday.

The pro-government Daily Sabah newspaper said that diplomats' customary immunity from prosecution does not apply in countries in which they have no accreditation. This gave Turkey the right to arrest the diplomat, who was accredited to only work in Lebanon, the newspaper said.

The arrest threatens to further strain Turkey's relations with Washington, which have deteriorated since the election of US President Joe Biden. The US embassy in Ankara made no immediate comment.

Citing police sources, Turkish media said the diplomat — identified only by the initials DJK — was initially detained at Istanbul Airport on November 11. The American has since been charged with providing a faked copy of their own passport to a Syrian who was tryi-ng to fly from Istanbul to Germany, the reports said.

The diplomat received $10,000 in exchange for the passport during a handoff at Istanbul Airport, which was captured by closed circuit cameras, according to the reports.

The Syrian national, identified by the initials RS, was charged with forging an official document and released. AFP

HOLIDAY HIGH

Many in the city are ringing in the festive season with the all-time favourite festive spirit, mulled or homemade wine

PIC: @ITS_MY_LITTLEWORLD

ANILA KURIAN

CAKE, wine, a hearty meal and celebrations. What's Christmas without all of these? To make sure that the 'holiday spirit' is celebrated on a high note, Bengalureans are opting for a variety of wine. While there are dime-a-dozen options, homemade spirits have a special place at this time of the year.

Benita Maria Albert, a teacher, has been making wine for the last 15 years. "Making wine is a day's job when it comes to getting the ingredients together but it takes 21 days to get some result. You have to keep it airtight, stir it regularly, make sure no water is added and keep it in a dark space. You can drink it right after the 21 days or keep it however long for better flavour," says Albert, who has been following an heirloom recipe passed down from her grandmother. "The best part about this is that it doesn't need to be chilled. You can enjoy it as is and it's always nice to take it out during the holiday season when family and friends are around. There is no alcohol content in it so anyone can have it," she adds.

However, Albert doesn't recommend this to be used with mulled wines. That's where Bhavna Kanori, founder of social gifting venture Scift, comes into the picture. "Mulled wines are synonymous with Christmas. Thanks to the weather in Bengaluru, you can enjoy it anytime between October and December," says Kanori. The entrepreneur makes a concentrate of the mulled wine using spices like star anise, pepper, cardamom, cloves, cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg and orange. "It needs to simmer for a couple of hours and this concentrate can be poured into the wine and heated to enjoy," she says, adding that it generally pairs well with sweet red wine, perhaps a Shiraz. "I've made about 200-odd bottles in the last few months and it's mostly for friends and family members," she adds. Each bottle is priced at ₹500.

Sharing the 'Essence of Christmas' is Payal Shah of Kobo Fermentary, a space to learn all things microbes, who makes an instant mulled wine fermentation. "This is something that is available at German Christmas markets. What I make is an easier version of the German called Glühwein," says Shah, who has been making this concoction for six years now. "Thanks to social media, it took off well and I found that people from 20 different countries tried it out. It's a mix of spices and fruit that is fermented. You can use this mix to ferment anything you want — red or white wine, beer, kombucha or apple juice," says Shah.

While she makes this for her friends and family during the holiday season, Shah has shared the recipe on her Instagram handle (@kobofermentary) for anyone who wants to make it.

'NAIL'ING THE LOOK

Bengalureans are going gaga over Christmas-themed nails with salons offering styles that convey the X'mas story

MONIKA MONALISA

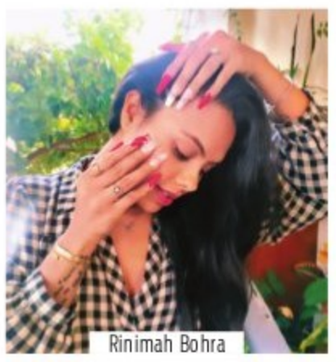
THE holiday season is upon us and that means celebrations. After a damp 2020, Bengalureans are hoping to enjoy the festive season even as the third wave of the pandemic looms over us. To match the season, nail enthusiasts are opting for Christmas-themed nails in different shades and colours.

For instance, Rinimah Bohra, who has been doing her nails regularly every month since 2009, went ahead and did her nails twice just for Christmas. For the first look, she had transparent nails with glittering stars, while for the second, she went for a red and white theme. "Nail art for me is a must. It makes me feel festive throughout the month. This year, I had my nails done at the beginning of the month but one of them chipped. So, I got it done again in time for Christmas," says Bohra, who sat patiently for four hours to get her second look done.

Design by Dessange Salon and Spa

Staying trendy comes at a price. Getting a themed look costs anywhere between ₹3,000 to ₹4,500. "If you are new to it, you might feel the pinch of the price, but if you are an enthusiast, then you might look at it as an investment on an accessory that will add to your look that will last for a month," the 33-year-old IT professional says.

Super chic embossed nails portraying Christmas stories or the classic bling of crystals, glitter or iridescent colours are a crowd favourite.



Rinimah Bohra

"We've noticed a rise in the trend of embossed nails with customers fashioning their nails after Christmas candy, pinstripes and X'Mas decorations. Ornate Swarovski nails fashioned to look like tree ornaments are also on the rise, " says Vasudha Gadi, joint MD, Dessange Salon and Spa.

While reds, greens and whites remain the classic sea-seasonal colours, a large majority are also willing to jazz up their nails in unique ways with varied colours.

Sneha Bhagwat, co-founder of Nailbox, a nail art salon, has seen a number of clients opting for French tips, neons, glitter and ombré in brighter hues through this year. "As we move into the close of the year — with the weather getting cooler — we start to see warmer tones, but with similar art trends from the year. The line art has moved into blacks and browns, from whites and neons. Bright colours have moved into warmer, deeper metallic colours," says Bhagwat, adding that people who prefer long extensions are going for clear nails with see-through, translucent colours and designs.

Those who prefer natural nails are enjoying multicoloured hands, with 2-3 different tones of a colour used on alternate fingernails.

Artist Raghavendra Hegde's sand paintings depicting environment and famous personalities is now on display at an exhibition

SANATH PRASAD

TOOTHBRUSHES, toothpicks, cotton and a bare hand — that is all it took for artist Raghavendra Hegde to pull off over 300 sand art works since the beginning of the lockdown in 2020.

From abstracts of skyscrapers, inspired from his trip to New York, to portraits of political and cultural icons, Hegde's sand art works are displayed at an exhibition, 'Sands of Time' at Karnataka Chitrakala Parishath.

Born in Sirsi, Uttara Kannada, Hegde grew up amidst diverse spread of flora and fauna. Which is exactly what his current series reflects. "The lockdown paved the way for me to work on sand paintings. Drawing upon my experience in sand art, I have been able to formulate new possibilities like a single piece of art morphing into multiple forms. The topics I rely upon are also drawn from the environment I grew up in, surrounded by trees, flowers, hills, rivers," says Hegde, who has been working on sand art for 10 years.

Some of his sand paintings include 'Seeking Hope', a work depicting an elderly man wrapped behind many layers which is an indication of losing hope; 'Improvise', a series of four sand paintings that include random strokes which depict how ideas collide and clash with each other in life; portraits include those of Narendra Modi, MS Dhoni, Virat Kohli, Mahatma Gandhi, Salvador Dalí among others. "Working on portraits was the toughest part of this project. The major challenge is that you cannot undo errors. However, I managed to work on these portraits within a day," says Hegde, who has also set up an experience centre at the exhibition to encourage people to try their hands at sand art. "It requires an elaborate digital setup... much more than one can imagine. I wish more people would take up sand art which, by far, emits the least carbon footprint," adds Hegde.

'Sands of Time' is taking place at Karnataka Chitrakala Paris-hath, till December 27.

Expecting twins or other multiples? Here's how to take good care of yourself and your babies

DR BHARATI KAMOJI

PREGNANCY is a wonderful journey. Sometimes a twin or triplet pregnancy just happens and it can be a surprise for expecting parents. It is common to feel anxious, scared and emotional to have twins. A woman may experience intense pregnancy symptoms with twins along with more complications. It can increase the chances of high-risk pregnancy but one must not worry much as it doesn't necessarily mean danger. However, it is important to consult your doctor and choose what's best for you and the baby.

Causes of twin pregnancy

Twins are of two types, identical and fraternal twins. Identical twins are the result of a single egg splitting into two while fraternal twins come from two separate eggs. According to data, India is witnessing a 'ten-fold rise' in twinning rates over the past two decades. Use of assisted reproductive technologies such as in-vitro fertilisation can increase the odds of twins or other multiples. Some of the known factors that can increase the chances of having twins are:

Age: Women above 30 are more likely to conceive twins. As you get older, hormonal changes can cause more than one egg to be released at a time. It can trigger the formation of follicle-stimulating hormone (FSH) which is responsible for the development of eggs in the ovaries.

Family history: As per the study report, offspring of male identical twins may be more likely to have their own identical twins. And, the chances increase if you have fraternal twins (non-identical) in your family.

Weight: Extra body fat can lead to increased levels of oestrogen in the body. High oestrogen levels can overstimulation of the ovaries and cause releasing of two or more eggs at ovulation.

Are twin pregnancies risky?

A twin pregnancy causes the body to produce higher levels of pregnancy hormones, particularly human chorionic gonadotropin (HCG). This may intensify early pregnancy symptoms such as weight gain, especially in early pregnancy, increased appetite, morning sickness and feeling distinct foetal movements in different parts of the stomach. While there is a higher chance for complications in twin pregnancies, several treatments can reduce the risk they pose. It can increase the risk of pregnancy and delivery complications such as:

Early delivery: It is one of the most common complications of twin pregnancies. Less space for the foetuses to grow or because the placenta has developed unusually can cause early birth. In many cases, the mother experiences preeclampsia (a sudden rise in blood pressure) which can induce early delivery.

Vanishing twin syndrome: It is a type of miscarriage that takes place during early or late pregnancy. This happens when one twin dies in the uterus and the body partially or fully absorbs it. Now, with ultrasound, mothers can view their developing babies from a very early stage in the pregnancy.

Gestational diabetes: The risk of gestational diabetes increases if a mother is carrying multiples. High blood sugar can affect pregnancy and the health of babies. Thus, it is important to consult with your doctor and make dietary or lifestyle changes to control the condition.

C-section delivery: Usually, a cesarean section is advised for mothers having multiple but in many cases, women can still choose to deliver naturally if there are no risks involved. It is possible if the first baby is in a head-down position. If not, a C-section is done. In a twin pregnancy, the more common route of delivery is a C-section.

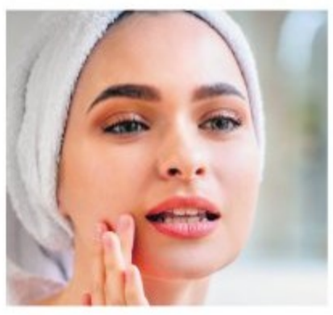
WINTER WOES

Follow this guide to take care of hair and skin in this season

DR GEETIKA MITTAL

THE products you use during the summer months may not work for your skin during the winter season. Try these tips to keep your hair and skin healthy as temperatures dip.

- Apply a coconut-based skin oil for dry skin as it does not leave too much of a residual feel.
- Try hydrating masks containing ingredients like Hyaluronic acid 3-4 times a week for moisturising and combating dry skin in winter. Hyaluronic acid keeps the skin soft and supple, maintains moisture levels, smooths out fine lines and brightens skin tone while balancing the production of oil glands. It also helps in maintaining the skin's proper balance of water and natural oils.
- To treat dry skin in winter through home remedies, include the use of a humidifier while sleeping as it helps in restoring the humidity levels in the air. This provides the skin with the moisture, even in the driest of times The damaged protective barrier of the skin causes water to escape and turning on a humidifier pulls moisture back into the air to improve dry skin and help it retain that hydration.
- Drink enough water to stay hydrated. During the winters, keeping your skin hydrated from inside and outside is essential.



Soothing brittle nails, chapped heels and lips

- Winter weather can be harsh for your lips, nails, and heels. The combination of cold temperatures and dry air can cause nails to lose moisture and become brittle. Additionally, the frequent usage of sanitisers can also be detrimental to nails in winter.
- Keep nails dry and clean and apply cream a few times a day to prevent the skin around the nails from cracking or splitting.
- Home remedies for dry skin in the winter includes soaking nails in lukewarm water once a week for a few minutes and coating them with a coconut-based skin oil as this helps avoid the lipid structure break-down in the deeper layers of the skin and preserves the moisture in the skin more holistically.
- Avoid picking at cuticles as it can cause damage to the nail bed, and cuts on the cuticle can be a breeding ground for bacteria. Use proper tools or take out some time for a manicure.
- Reduce the use of nail paint remover to no more than once a week or use an acetone-free nail paint remover that won't be as harsh on nails since acetone, the primary ingredient in nail paint remover, dries out nails.
- A balanced diet is necessary to keep nails healthy and promote growth. Foods containing biotin, omega-3 fatty acids, protein, Vitamin A, and zinc are great for nail health.
- Painful, cracked heels caused by dry skin are also a common skin condition and can lead to infections or make it painful to walk. Therefore, it is important to keep your feet healthy. Home remedies include marinating cracked heels in petroleum jelly or using coconut-based skin oil for dry skin and covering them with plastic wrap or putting on a pair of socks overnight.

HERE'S EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT A CARDIAC FAILURE

Heart health

DR GANESH NALLUR SHIVU

THE heart is a muscular pump and its function is to pump blood to all parts of the body, including the vital organs like brain, kidney etc. When the heart fails to deliver enough blood supply to these vital organs it is termed heart failure. Common symptoms are difficulty in breathing on walking or other activities, swelling in the legs or abdomen, fatigue and lack of energy.

Who can suffer a heart failure?

Heart failure usually occurs in patients with a previous history of heart attacks, angioplasty or coronary artery bypass grafting. Uncontrolled high blood pressure and diabetes for a long time can also result in heart failure. Heart failure can also occur in young patients following a viral illness and this is termed as viral myocarditis or in patients with rheumatic heart disease (valvular disease causing heart failure).

Common tests done for diagnosis

Doctors usually perform an ECG, echocardiogram and blood tests. The echocardiogram is an ultrasound examination of the heart and helps the doctor to determine the functional capacity of the heart (which is usually expressed as left ventricular ejection fraction) and also the functioning of the different valves in the heart (Mitral, aortic, tricuspid and pulmonary). The blood tests are done to determine other causes that could mimic heart failure like anaemia, kidney failure, liver failure and thyroid problems. After heart failure is diagnosed, the doctor may consider doing a coronary angiogram to look for blockages in the heart arteries as the cause of the heart failure.

Treatment

The doctor will prescribe medications to get rid of excess fluid (diuretics or water tablets) and other medications to help the recovery of the heart function (ACE inhibitors, AT2 antagonists and beta blockers).

The doctor will consider treatment of the cause of heart failure. This may include coronary angioplasty, coronary artery bypass grafting and valve replacement. There are also special kind of pacemakers (cardiac resynchronisation therapy), which can improve symptoms and prognosis in patients. In extreme cases, left ventricular assist devices and heart transplantation will be considered.

(The writer is senior interventional cardiologist, Kauvery Hospitals Electronic City)

What should patients do to help themselves?

- Patient should exercise regularly after consultation with the doctor
- Reduce salt intake
- Restrict the amount of fluid intake per day as suggested by the doctor
- Regularly follow up with the doctor to ensure there has not been any deterioration in heart function
- Seek urgent medical help if symptoms worsen

What is the prognosis?

The prognosis of heart failure can be worse than some cancers. It is very important to ensure that patients take prompt treatment and follow the advise of their doctor in order to improve look term outlook.

SOULFUL

If you hurt nature, you are hurting yourself

SURELY educators are aware of what is actually happening in the world. People are divided racially, religiously, politically, economically, and this division is fragmentation. It is bringing about great chaos in the world-wars, every kind of deception politically, and so on. There is the spreading violence of man against man. This is the actual state of confusion in the world, in the society in which we live; and this society is created by all human beings with their culture, their linguistic divisions, their regional separations. All this is breeding not only confusion but hatred, a great deal of antagonism and further linguistic differences.

This is what is happening; and the responsibility of the educator is really very great. He is concerned in all these schools to bring about a good human being who has a feeling of global relationship, who is not nationalistic, regional, separate, religiously clinging to the old dead traditions, which really have no value at all. The responsibility of the educator becomes more and more serious, more and more committed, more and more concerned with the education of his students.

What is education doing actually? Is it really helping mankind, our children, to become more concerned, more gentle, generous, not to go back to the old pattern, the old ugliness and naughtiness of this world? If the educator is really concerned, as he must be, then he has to help the student to find out his relationship to the world, not to the world of imagination or romantic sentimentality, but to the actual world in which all things are taking place; and also to the world of nature, to the desert, the jungle or the few trees that surround him, and to the animals of the world. (Animals, fortunately, are not nationalistic; they hunt only to survive.) If the educator and the student lose their relationship to nature, to the trees, to the rolling sea, each will certainly lose his relationship with humanity.

What is nature? There is a great deal of talk about and endeavour to protect nature, the animals, the birds, the whales and dolphins, to clean the polluted rivers, the lakes, the green fields and so on. Nature is not put together by thought, as religion is, as belief is. Nature is the tiger, that extraordinary animal with its energy, its great sense of power. Nature is the solitary tree in the field, the meadows and the grove; it is that squirrel shyly hiding behind a bough. Nature is the ant and the bee and all the living things of the earth. Nature is the river, not a particular river, whether the Ganges, the Thames or the Mississippi. Nature is all those mountains, snow-clad, with dark blue valleys and ranges of hills meeting the seas. The universe is part of this world. One must have a feeling for all this, not destroy it, not kill for one's pleasure, not kill animals for food. We do kill the vegetables that we eat, but one must draw the line somewhere. If you do not eat vegetables, then how will you live? So one must intelligently discern.

Nature is part of our life. We grew out of the seed, the earth, and we are part of all that, but we are rapidly losing the sense that we are animals like the others. Can you have a feeling for a tree, look at it, see the beauty of it, listen to the sound it makes; be sensitive to the little plant, to the little weed, to the creeper that is growing up the wall, to the light on the leaves and the many shadows? You must be aware of all this and have that sense of communion with nature around you. You may live in a town, but you do have trees here and there. The next-door garden may be ill-kept, crowded with weeds, but look at the flower in it, and feel that you are part of all that, part of all living things. If you hurt nature you are hurting yourself.

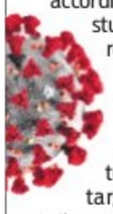
Omicron renders most monoclonal antibody therapy ineffective



Monoclonal antibody therapy, once hailed as 100 per cent effective in stopping Covid-19 in its tracks, has been defeated by the new super mutant Omicron variant of the coronavirus, according to an international study involving researchers from the US, Japan, and Switzerland. Monoclonal antibodies are proteins designed to attach to a specific target, in this case the spike protein of SARS-CoV-2, which the virus uses to enter human cells. Several studies have shown that monoclonal antibody therapy can stop Covid infection's progression to ICU admissions and death. It was also approved by the US Food and Drug Administration in November last year, and even by the Central Drugs Standards Control Organisation for use in India in May, 2021. – IANS

Dhananjay

'BADAVA RASCAL IS AN HONEST ATTEMPT'

...says Dhananjay, who plays the lead in this romantic entertainer and also turns a producer with the film slated to release on Dec 24

A SHARADHAA

DHANANJAY, who started as a theatre artist, faced the camera for the first time for the short film, Jayanagar 4th block. His silver screen debut Director's Special was followed up with films that established him as a versatile hero. His first role as an antagonist in Tagaru became a turning point in his career. Today, the actor is also simultaneously in the nascent stages of becoming a pan-India star.

A lyricist by passion, the actor made his OTT debut with Rathnan Prapancha. He now holds a new responsibility as a producer with Badava Rascal. "It gives me great joy to explore a new department of cinema, and I find it interesting. Just doing the same thing again bores me. I like handling this new responsibility and pressure," he explains.

What exactly made him explore production first? "survival instinct," he replies, "Usually when an actor works for the dream of others, we are dependant on them. When they don't understand where we fit in and make films that don't match our interests, we end up being part of a bad cinema. Many times, we fail to understand the business. There are times getting remuneration is a problem by itself. These things made me take the plunge. Badava Rascal through our Daali Pictures is an honest attempt, and we hope to win," he says.

Dhananjay shares that his team eased his pressure of being an actor and producer, for Badava Rascal, "I knew director Shankar Guru for a long time, and this helped him design an apt character for me. The actors and technicians (Amrutha Iyengar, Nagabhushan, Poornachandra Mysore, music director, Vasuki Vaibhav and cinematographer, Preetha Jayaram) all are my good friends, and I am glad that Badava Rascal brought all of us together."

He adds that everyone is celebrating the film as their own. "The audiences have been promoting our film in creative ways. B*adava Rascal* wouldn't have happened without the support of my friends who are doing everything to make sure the film reaches the people."

Badava Rascal, billed to be a romantic comedy entertainer, also features Rangayana Raghu in a prominent role. The film distributed by KRG Studios is slated to release on December 24. Dhananjay, who has his hands busy with the promotions, has a message for his audiences. "The film is censored with a U/A and it is meant to be enjoyed with family and friends. I am sure every character will be relatable."

CANDID CHAT

'RIDER IS A JOURNEY OF LOVE THAT'S CLOSE TO MY HEART'

CE FEATURES

I'M here to stay," says Nikhil Kumaraswamy. He wants to strive hard with each project and doesn't mind taking one step at a time. He is excited for his upcoming release, Rider, and in a chat with CE, he shares about the film, his future in cinema, and more. "Rider, in the film's context, means the journey of love. That's how I want to describe this film, which is close to my heart," begins Nikhil.

The actor is glad to have explored a new character in Rider, and he is happy for the reception that the trailer and songs have been receiving. "Covid was unfortunate, but the situation has made people hooked onto OTT platforms. As they have access to various kinds of cinema, the only way to bring them back to theatres is by making good cinema. And Rider will be one of those films. There's a lot more to the film than what is in the trailer," he says, and adds, "Apart from the commercial elements, it is the emotional quotient that will draw the audiences to the big screens."

Nikhil Kumaraswamy opens up about his upcoming film, Rider, which is slated to release on December 24. The actor also talks about his future in cinema, and more...

Rider, backed by producer Chandru Manoharan's Lahari Films and Sunil Gowda's Shivanandi Entertainments, marks the debut of Telugu director, Vijay Kumar Konda, in Kannada. Talking about the debutant, Nikhil says, "The director, who has given two successful hits in Telugu, has made sure to give a local flavour to his debut Kannada film. He has completely justified the story written by Sharath. He holds a lot of respect for the Kananda industry and the language. Professionally, I liked the way he has handled the film. He came across as a sweet person to me."

The conversation veered towards the cast members and, Nikhil says, "Even though the film features an ensemble cast including Chikkanna, Shivaraj K R Pete, Manju Pavagada, Achyuth Kumar, Rajesh Nataranga, and Ram Gadura, it mostly revolves around the hero and heroine. The film also marks Kashmira's debut in Kannada. She was a perfect fit for the role. Our on-screen chemistry has worked very well.

Nikhil admits that he takes inputs from his father Kumaraswamy, a popular politician and film producer and distributor. However, the actor's wife Revathi is his first critic. "She has been there at every stage of my life and in this film journey. I showed her the unedited version, which was for four hours, and she had good feedback to give me."

The actor's next film will be with KVN Production, and it will be directed by debutant Manju Atharva. "This is yet another content-based commercial subject, and I am looking forward to beginning the shoot from January end," he says. When asked about his rumoured political aspirations, the actor said he did not wish to discuss it now. However, he says, "I am currently enjoying my work for the big screen. Otherwise, I wouldn't have accepted another film," says Nikhil.

"Cinema is my profession. Unfortunately, I missed taking up more projects as I got distracted. However, there is no point in discussing it now. I am glad that I have some good films coming my way, and my focus is on acting," he signs off.

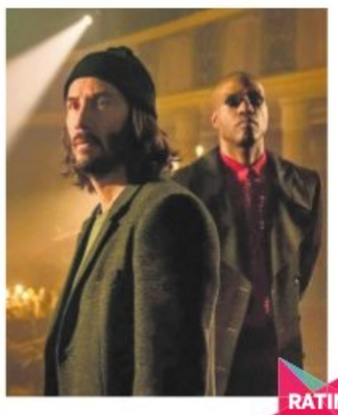
An underwhelming deja vu drowned in self-awareness

THE MATRIX RESURRECTIONS

Cast: Keanu Reeves, Carrie-Anne Moss, Jessica Henwick, Yahya Abdul-Mateen II

Direction: Lana Wachowski



KIRUBHAKAR PURUSHOTHAMAN

THE Matrix Trilogy' had a nice ring to it. It sounded complete, and more importantly, it was complete. So, yes, I did wonder what necessitated a fourth film. Why fix what ain't broke? Lana Wachowski, however, sees quite a few things being broken. For one, she seems to have a problem with the very idea of The One. The Matrix Resurrections, in fact, feels like a self-analysis of the trilogy. It is a "second chance" to right the wrongs (or what she perceives to be wrong anyway) with the seminal work of the Wachowskis. However, at the cost of being self-aware, the film loses sight of offering justification for its existence. It does a great job with the meta-jokes, but you don't see the same enthusiasm when it comes to answering the bigger questions.

RATING 3/5

The first one is: Why did the Machines 'resurrect' Neo (Keanu Reeves) and Trinity (Carrie-Anne Moss)? This was the biggie, ever since the fourth part was announced. To jog your memory, The Matrix Revolutions ended with Neo and Trinity sacrificing themselves to end the war between the Machines and humans. Neo strikes a truce with the Machines. He stops Smith for the Machines, and in return, brings peace to humanity and the city of Zion. We last see an unconscious body of Neo dragged away by a machine. So, why let him come back? Why bring back Trinity? We do get an answer, but it is a bit of a stretch. That's among the reasons this new addition to the franchise doesn't feel as organic as its predecessors. While the trilogy dealt with real conflicts, in this new addition, the magnitude of the problems doesn't bother us. It seems like there is nothing really at stake here.

In Resurrections, we see Neo (aka), Thomas Anderson, being a world-famous game designer who has made a ground-breaking video game series called The Matrix. His boss Smith (Jonathan Groff) now wants him to do the fourth part as Warner Bros has ordered them to do so (wink, wink). As he reluctantly sets to work on it, something seems amiss with his reality. There's also the fatal attraction towards a married woman named Tiffany (Carie Anne-Moss) he sees at a neighbourhood cafe. We also have a new Morpheus played by Yahya Abdul-Mateen II. Let's just say that a major portion of the Resurrection is simply a deja vu of The Matrix (1999), but that's also the best part of this film. The meta humour is delicious in these portions, with Lana reflecting on the trilogy with a sarcastic perspective that almost makes you feel she is not taking things too seriously. I was particularly amused and shocked to see how The Merovingian (Lambert Wilson) and Xiles, formidable forces in Reloaded and Revolutions, get used just for a stunt sequence and a few great laughs. It is also weirdly hilarious to see Merv bay for a spin-off. Even the new Smith here gets exploited for some dose of nostalgia and as a deus ex machina. The CGI sequences are incredible, and that's no surprise really. If The Wachowskis could pull off The Matrix in 1999... Yet, the violence and the stunts here seem restrained. The fight sequences of the trilogy are still a pop culture phenomenon, but let's remember that Lana Wachowski is who made Netflix's Sense 8, in which a line goes, "Violence has a gender."

Perhaps, the rabbit hole took us to a different place this time, one that we didn't quite expect. Possible disappointments with this film stems mainly from our expectations based on the previous films. Yes, there is hardly anything groundbreaking here, including in the film's gender politics. And yet, it's also a film that remembers its fandom, with all its easter eggs and callbacks. After three decades, The Matrix (1999) and subsequent films remain fresh. I'll go out on a limb here and predict that that might not quite happen for this fourth film.
